

GOVERNOR SMITH REFUSES TO HALT EXECUTION OF RUTH SNYDER AND LOVER TOMORROW NIGHT

Thomas Trollinger Found Guilty of Manslaughter

SLAYER OF ALLEN DOOMED TO SERVE 4 TO 6 YEAR TERM

Attorney for Defense Announces That Petition for New Trial Will Be Filed Today.

GIRL TESTIFIES FOR DEFENDANT

State Attempts To Prove That Jealousy Caused Trollinger To Shoot Allen To Death.

Thomas Trollinger, farm tenant, twice tried and once acquitted on murder charges, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter late Tuesday night and sentenced to serve four to six years in the penitentiary by Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton Superior court. Len C. Guilbeau, defense attorney, announced he would file motion for a new trial today. Trollinger's bond was fixed at $3,000 pending his appeal.

The state styled Trollinger a jealous lover, who shot Millard Allen to death last October in a quarrel over Nina Evelt, 17-year-old ward of the prisoner, while the defense pictured him as having killed while defending the girl from a murderous attack.

The fatal shooting occurred on the Simpson road "death farm" near the tenant house occupied by Trollinger, his wife and a large family.

Girl Testifies for Defense.

Allen, open knife in hand, was advancing on Miss Evelt, according to her statement to the jury Tuesday afternoon, when Trollinger shot him with a rifle, once, and then again as the wounded man continued to advance.

A rifle reported to be Trollinger's was introduced as evidence by the prosecution, whereupon Assistant Solicitor John Hudson was put on the stand and asked, by defense counsel, for a knife which police testified had been found clamped in the dead man's hand. Solicitor Hudson pointed out the knife and this weapon also was admitted as evidence.

By summoning Mrs. R. B. Allen, mother of the defendant, the state sought to establish a jealousy motive for the killing. Mrs. Allen swore Trollinger had named Allen as a troublemaker between himself and his wife, and that the former had said Allen was paying unwelcome attention to the Evelt girl. This testimony was ruled out, however, when defense counsel pointed out Mrs. Allen's name had not appeared on the state's indictment as a witness, as required by law.

Clear in One Case.

Trollinger, first cleared of a murder charge in connection with the death of Allen at a preliminary hearing in municipal court, a few weeks ago, was put on trial and acquitted for the alleged slaying of Owen Caruthers, negro, whose body was unearthed last November on the "death farm."

It was after the revelations of this trial that an indictment was returned against Trollinger in the Allen death.

Bond for the defendant was made following the motion for his new trial. Attorney Guilbeau indicated Tuesday night, the jury received the case about 7 o'clock Tuesday night and returned a verdict three hours later.

Georgians Urge Senator George For White House

Unanimously Indorsed for Democratic Presidential Nomination at Gathering in Capital.

CHAIRMAN MADDOX GIVES SUGGESTION

Resolution Passed by Georgia Delegation in Congress and National Committee Members.

Washington, D. C., January 10.—(Special.)—Senator Walter F. George tonight was unanimously and enthusiastically indorsed for the democratic presidential nomination by the Georgia congressional delegation, Major John S. Cohen, democratic national committeeman; Mrs. Edgar Alexander, democratic national committeewoman, and G. Ed Maddox, of Rome, chairman of the Georgia state democratic executive committee. The action was taken at a dinner given by Major Cohen at the Mayflower hotel, in compliment to Chairman Maddox, and which was attended by Senator William H. Harris, Senator George, Mrs. Alexander and the members of the house of representatives from Georgia.

The suggestion that Senator George be indorsed by the democracy of Georgia and by Georgia offered to the nation as the party's presidential nominee was first advanced by Chairman Maddox. It met with a hearty and spontaneous indorsement from members of the Georgia delegation, Senator Harris being the first to recommend favorable and united action.

Speeches approving Mr. Maddox's suggestion were made by Senator Harris, Congressman Vinson, of the tenth; Wright, of the fourth; Rutherford, of the sixth; Cox, of the second; Edwards, of the first; Major Cohen, Mrs. Alexander, Dr. Sam W. Small and others.

The resolution placing Senator George in the presidential race was offered by Congressman Eugene Cox, of the second district, and follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Georgia delegation in congress, the Georgia democratic national committeemen, the Georgia democratic national committeewoman and the chairman of the Georgia state democratic executive committee that Senator Walter F. George be by the state of Georgia offered to the nation as the candidate of the democratic party for president of the United States, and that the text of this resolution be given to the press."

In the speeches indorsing Senator George as a candidate, it was the general consensus that in the present confused state of things political in the democratic party he stands an excellent chance of winning the nomination. It was determined further to make a vigorous fight in behalf of his candidacy, especially among the southern states, and in this connection it was remarked as highly significant that Senator George has been selected by National Chairman Clem Shaver as one of the chief speakers at the Jackson dinner, which will be held Thursday night at the Mayflower.

WIFE OF NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC HEAD THREATENS BREAK OF FINANCE BODY

Warns Women Will Form Third Party Unless Delegates Name Dry Presidential Candidate.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER, United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, January 10.—Carefully laid plans for harmony at the big gathering of democrats here this week were threatened by dry women today when they rose to back up Mrs. Clem L. Shaver, wife of the chairman of the democratic national committee, who warned that women will put a ticket of their own in the field unless satisfactory candidates are nominated.

This pronouncement was made before the National Woman's Law Enforcement league and would have received scant attention had it not come from the wife of the national chairman. At the moment his wife was issuing this warning to the wet wing of the party, Shaver was in the national committee offices a few squares away completing plans for the big Jackson Day harmony feast which he insisted on holding against some opposition—to bury the feud of Madison Square Garden and start the party off on a united basis in the coming campaign.

Leaders Throng to Capital.

Democratic national committeemen were arriving in large numbers all day and there was much private discussion of Mrs. Shaver's speech.

"We're apparently in for another one like we had at Madison Square Garden," said one committeeman from a border state.

"Remember this," another committeeman said, "we have been fighting for years. We're on it. The only place you have complete harmony is in the cemetery."

Democrats, though hoping for the best this year, are becoming resigned to another fight and they are preparing to have as much fun out of it as they can.

Dry forces while bitter against Smith, Reed and Ritchie, have brought forward no dry candidate upon which there is any general agreement. They are scattering their strength among a dozen remote possibilities.

McAdoo in Background.

In the background is the tall figure of McAdoo, who though he recently said he would not be a candidate, is regarded by some as the only dry possessing anything like a national following.

Whether the dries will draw him into the fight will depend on the reaction to his speech at the Jackson Day dinner Thursday. He has said he will not go into controversial matters.

Meanwhile Smith's friends were active. Led by Norman Mack, national committeeman from New York, George Brennan of Illinois, Isadore Dockweiler of California, Frank Hague of New Jersey and Joe Guiley of Pennsylvania.

"When the democratic party wakes up and gives the women a dry ticket, regardless of party dissensions and selfish strivings on the part of wet elements, then the democrats will win and the women will be satisfied," Mrs. Shaver said.

Recalls 1920 Campaign.

"In 1924," she continued, "the dry democrats hoped for better luck, reluctant to believe the leaders would put another wet ticket in the field. And did they get a ticket the dry women count of the play of two women with a blank pistol Tuesday afternoon. The child was shot in the eye by his brother, Bert, 7, relatives said.

The 1924 candidate was John W. Davis, who kicked his old friend, Mrs. Shaver's husband, was elected as the result of the play of two associates privately regretted Mrs. Shaver's speech, feeling that it would embolden her divorce suit.

Unable to Find Witnesses.

George P. Hoover, counsel for Sinclair, said United States marshals who had tried to serve defense summonses on the missing witnesses reported they were unable to locate them. However, declared the two would be in court when wanted and that he expected King to return from the west as soon as his wife was out of danger. He said Akers' attorney had promised to produce him when wanted.

O'Leary took the stand late today to testify in his own defense on charges of intimidation made by Kidwell. He reviewed his relations with the juror in detail and had covered only their first day's acquaintance when court recessed.

$3,134,568 SCHOOL BUDGET IS ASKED

Committee Must Find $728,560 Additional Revenue at Thursday Meeting To Fill Request.

Members of the Atlanta board of education, the Parent-Teacher association and labor and civic leaders spent Tuesday afternoon presenting to the 1928 finance committee of city council the claims of the Atlanta board of education to a budget calling for $3,134,568 or 29.8 per cent of the estimated gross revenue of the city for 1928.

Revenue available for school purposes under the 26 per cent estimate would be $2,406,008, and members of the finance committee, when they convened at 1 o'clock Thursday morning, will face the problem of finding the difference in these amounts. While every member of the committee expressed a desire to allow the school department every penny possible appropriation was felt that the city would not be able to provide the budget which was offered by George Powell, president of the board of education, and which was characterized by other members of the board and administration as the least possible figure on which Atlanta can maintain anything like an adequate educational program.

One would be that the sum contributed by Atlanta will equal the generous gift made upon this condition by Mr. Lupton. Fifteen men have pledged their services to carry the campaign through to a successful end. These men will continue to meet each morning in the offices of Judge Edgar Walker to discuss the progress of the drive.

"I am confident that Atlantans, who have thus far shown genuine enthusiasm for the movement that will make Oglethorpe one of the great educational centers of the south and perpetuate its glorious history, will welcome these contributors with a generous hand now as the drive draws to its successful close. When so great a challenge has been thrown to Atlanta, it has been done through the benevolent Chattanooga's gift to an Atlanta institution, it is impossible that the citizens of this city will not rise to meet it."

"I am sure that they will do it, and carry the campaign to the successful conclusion that Mr. Lupton has already anticipated with the announcement that he will begin payments on his contribution."

Time Is Promised Roads To Prepare New Depot Plans

Georgia Public Service Commission Prepared To Grant Any Reasonable Request of Officials

STATION HEARING SET FOR JAN. 17

Commission Will Grant Railroads 60 or 90 Days To File Blue Prints and Specifications.

Railroads interested in the proposed construction of a new union passenger station in Atlanta will be given ample time in which to prepare plans, specifications and blueprints for such a project, provided they will appear before the Georgia public service commission January 17 with a statement that it is their purpose to erect such a station, even though made in general terms, according to James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, in a statement made public Tuesday.

This statement came following the suggestion made by the mayor's special depot committee headed by Mel R. Williamson that the hearing proposed for January 17 be postponed 60 or 90 days in order to give the railroads time to prepare plans for the proposed new station. Mr. Perry said he had written President Hill, of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, informing Mr. Hill that the hearing was set for January 17 so the railroads could acquaint the commission with the position of the railroads in regard to the new station.

Perry Quotes Letter.

Chairman Perry had not received the copy of the letter Mr. Williamson sent Mayor I. N. Ragsdale suggesting the postponement, but was informed of its contents by a Constitution representative. In his statement Mr. Perry quotes from a recent letter to Mr. Hill in which he outlined the commission's course in the matter.

Should the commission, following the hearing January 17, issue an order requiring the railroads to file blueprints, details and specifications for a new union station 60 or 90 days would be easily "justified for this purpose," according to Chairman Perry.

Mr. Perry's statement follows:

"I have not received the mayor's letter as referred to by you, but frankly, if I understand the purpose of the letter, I do not see there is anything the commission can do more than we advised Mr. Hill, under date of January 4, wherein I stated that the intention of the rule is that you shall, as far as practicable, if necessary in a somewhat general manner, acquaint the commission with just what your position is concerning improved depot facilities at the Union station in Atlanta, and if a new building is decided upon, and when it is your view that actual work, approximately, may be expected to start. Of course, if, as your letter indicates, your views in detail are not ready, it is your duty to file them."

LAST HOPE FADES FOR DOOMED PAIR AT THIS DECISION

"Have Searched in Vain for Basis To Temper Law With Mercy," Says Executive.

SLAYERS NOT TOLD ABOUT REFUSAL

Gray Visited by Wife But No Reconciliation Between Two Is Effected, Officials Say.

New York, January 10.—(AP)—Governor Smith today denied the pleas of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray for executive clemency. Both are scheduled to die in the electric chair Thursday night for the murder of the woman's husband.

"The execution of this judgment on a woman is so distressing that I had hoped that the appeal would disclose some fact which would justify my interference with the process of law," the governor said in announcing his decision. "I have searched in vain for any basis which my conscience in the light of my oath of office will approve on which I might temper the law with mercy."

"Up to this writing there is no extension shown for what the seven judges of the court of appeals, in agreement with the 12 jurors and the trial justice, have found to be a deliberate and premeditated murder committed by these defendants."

Attorneys Are Divided.

With the governor's decision it seemed almost certain that the condemned pair would die in the electric chair Thursday. While Mrs. Snyder's attorney, Henry J. Spector, has been making every effort to secure a writ of habeas corpus, there was no indication that any further effort would be made to save Gray.

The governor said the case had received his anxious consideration, not merely upon the application for executive clemency, but ever since the court of appeals unanimously affirmed the conviction of the defendants.

In their appeal Governor Smith, heard at Albany, January 5, counsel for Mrs. Snyder and Gray admitted that their clients had unquestionably killed Albert Snyder, art editor, but argued that they might have been emotionally diseased that they were incapable of doing right, even though they recognized the difference between right and wrong.

PLAY WITH PISTOL MAY COST CHILD LOSS OF ONE EYE

Sight of his right eye may be lost to Franklin Anderson, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Anderson, of 1588 Greendeville avenue, S. W., as the result of the play of two children with a blank pistol Tuesday afternoon. The child was shot in the eye by his brother, Bert, 7, relatives said.

Physicians were unable to determine Tuesday night whether the sight of the eye will be lost, but said that the powder burns were serious, as the pupil was blackened.

Franklin and his brother were playing at home when the blank pistol was discharged. The injured boy was rushed to Grady hospital and after receiving emergency treatment in the clinic was admitted to the roof ward. Eugene Allen, 16, of R. F. D. No. 4, was treated at the Grady for a gunshot wound in the right foot, received in an accidental shooting.

HUSBAND CLAIMS WIFE MARRIED HIM TO ENTER AMERICA

A husband who used the mails to win a bride from Greece, meeting her in Cuba for one marriage and bringing her home to Atlanta for a second ceremony, Tuesday afternoon asked the courts to annul the whole proceedings.

In Fulton Superior court refused the plea of Victor Vlass, cafe proprietor, for an annulment, while recommending that Mrs. Vlass be granted an alimony under pending decision on her divorce suit.

In his petition, heard before Judge G. H. Howard, Vlass insisted Mrs. Vlass had married him with the sole intent of using his citizenship for entry into the United States.

Mrs. Vlass was going forward with her suit. Attorney John Westmoreland announced Tuesday night, attorneys Will G. and James L. Moore are representing Vlass.

Atlanta Career Recalled As Sea Captain Vanishes

The Atlantic today hides the sequel to the epic life history of Captain Thomas M. Bram, who served 17 years at the federal prison here as punishment for a crime said to have been committed by another man.

Paroled at last, he won a competence through years of incessant toil in Atlanta, then went back to the sea, and Tuesday his ship was reported missing off Cape Hatteras. He had sailed from Jacksonville for Portland in command of the schooner Alvera.

Through the intercession of T. W. Hardwick, then a Georgia senator, Captain Bram was paroled by President Wilson while serving a life sentence for the murder at sea of two men and a woman.

Undaunted by the buffeting of fate, the aged man, on his release, opened a hot dog stand in the railroad yards here. He also took a night job checking freight cars. Working at the two-man task he made sufficient money to move his lunch stand to a more desirable location, this time on Marietta street, near Broad.

It was at this stage in his life when the shadow of the crime for which he was convicted was lifted. In Los Angeles a sailor, on his death bed, confessed to the murder for which he was convicted.

President Wilson, then attending the Versailles conferences, cabled a complete pardon, and Captain Bram, accompanied by a score of dark years, forged ahead in his business career here.

With the savings of years of toil and self-denial he bought the Bromwell apartments, on North Boulevard, near Highland avenue, and later, with the rise of the Florida boom, transferred his activities to Jacksonville.

Here Captain Bram prospered, buying an interest in important shipping concerns. And it was from this port he put out on what now appears to have been his last voyage.

His was the story of a man who came back in the face of crushing circumstances.

LOVE OF RICH MAN RECALLED BY MAID

Oklahoma, Okla., January 10.—(United News.)—The story of how a 53-year-old millionaire fell in love "at first sight" with a 16-year-old maid of his household, took her as his common law wife and then forgot her in his will was recited in court here today.

Claiming half share in the $2,000,000 estate of the late W. T. McKallip, Oklahoma and Texas oil man, Miss Betty Schumann, once a maid in McKallip's Minnesota summer mansion, brought attorneys and witnesses into court here to testify that she was his common law wife.

It was testified that they came here in the fall of 1924 and spent the following summer living at McKallip's cottage near Park Rapids, home of the girl. Mrs. Plummer, however, said she knew nothing of Miss Schumann's child, which the girl claims was born early in 1924 in Dallas, Texas.

Magic of Happiness Found Lacking in 'Freak' Marriages

Chicago 'Divorce Judge' Favors Old-Fashioned Kind

Chicago, January 10.—(United News.)—Judge Joseph Sabath, who has heard the complaints of 50,000 discontented wives and husbands, has decided that divorce can be prevented only by stopping unwise marriages and that adoption of companionate unions or other panaceas would only make the situation worse.

"There is no magic about a successful marriage," Judge Sabath said. "And the element of chance is small. Statistics from all over the world show that there is a direct ratio between the frequency of divorce and the care taken in consummating a marriage."

When young people know each other and understand their obligations before they are married, they usually stay married. When they do not, they usually are divorced.

That explains why most divorces are awarded to couples who have been married less than five years, Judge Sabath said. He agreed with L. E. Maffei, Paris divorce engineer, that "the first year is the hardest."

That is also why Judge Sabath is some 90 or 90 days, at such date as is agreeable to the commission."

Erection of a huge union station in the "Y" block between the Chicago and Terminal stations, and to house the new postoffice under the same roof, was suggested Tuesday by Robert W. Swann, Atlanta architect, who declared that the erection of such a project would solve Atlanta's external transportation problem for many years to come.

Plans for a new union station were drawn some 25 years ago by Mr. Swann, when a movement to replace the old building was started. Railroad officials approved the plan, he said, but it was never pushed beyond the preliminary stage.

$13,156.88 SCHOOL BUDGET IS ASKED

Local teachers are entitled to their salaries because they are performing a noble service in the interest of future citizenship.

1917 Deficit Denied.

Denying that the 1927 board of education ran a deficit, despite the fact that teachers of the system now face a salary cut of $48,000 for the last half of December, 1927, to make up a shortage in the school department, Willis A. Runtz, superintendent of schools, declared that the board last year operated on $25,000 less than the budget authorized by city council.

He attributed the lack of funds to slashes made necessary because of failure to collect taxes.

Maintenance of buildings of the system last year amounted to less than $1,000 each for the 67 in the system.

Mr. Runtz said that while Atlanta's school system last year operated at a cost of about $50 per child, the average in the United States was $86 per child. The contemplated expenditure for this year is about $55 per child.

A total of 96 per cent of Atlanta's school age population is in the public schools, and that is the real cause of our financial embarrassment. The very success of the public schools is their worst enemy in the matter of operating cost.

Mr. Runtz said that he would not sanction any cut in teachers' salaries under any conditions. I would rather let buildings deteriorate and operate at a loss than disrupt the teachers' salary schedule. I want to say there is not a dollar of padding in the budget we have offered. It is the best we can do and the very least we can operate on this year.

Mayor Forwarded Letter.

Mayor Ragsdale Tuesday afternoon, in forwarding the letter from the mayor's committee, said that he was sending it without recommendation to Mr. Perry for any action that the commission desired to take.

The mayor asserted that he stood solidly behind the attitude of the chairman of the public service commission for a hearing January 17, when the railroads have been asked to state their intentions for adequate terminal facilities.

"I am heartily in favor of granting the railroads additional time in which to prepare plans, blueprints and other engineering data necessary for submission to the public service commission," Mayor Ragsdale said, "but the hearing set for January 17, in my opinion, should not be postponed. That hearing was called for the purpose of learning the intentions of the railroads in furnishing adequate facilities, now that the viaducts are under way."

"I am glad to note from expressions of President Hill of the N. C. & St. L. and Mr. Tye, who represents that railroad, that the N. C. & St. L. plan to build a new and adequate union depot in Atlanta. That is all the people of Atlanta want and I feel that the railroads are justified in their intentions, as I am certain they will at the January 17 hearing, they should be given additional time to submit the details of their plan."

"Mr. Wilkinson's letter to me stating the attitude of the committee I named to represent the city of Atlanta is in accordance with the attitude of the committee. I am certain they will at the January 17 hearing, they should be given additional time to submit the details of their plan."

Letter to Mayor.

Mr. Wilkinson's letter to Mayor Ragsdale follows:

"Your committee of five citizens appointed to represent the city at the public hearing scheduled to be held before the Georgia public service commission on January 17 was called together this morning at 10 o'clock in the office of the chairman."

"John L. Tye appeared before our committee in behalf of the N. C. & St. L. R. R. with the request that the public hearing scheduled for January 17 be deferred 60 or 90 days in order that the railroads might prepare and submit adequate plans for a new union station."

"Mr. Tye read a letter from President Hill of the N. C. & St. L. R. R., dated January 3, addressed to Chairman Perry, of the public service commission, in which the letter stated that the railroads might prepare and submit adequate plans for a new union station."

"After hearing Mr. Tye, your committee instructed me to report our meeting to you with the request, if it meets with your approval, that you ask the public service commission to defer the public hearing for

FORCE 'MOBILIZED' TO DRY UP FLORIDA

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., January 10.—(P)—Maintaining all possible secrecy, coast guard forces today started the concentration here which Washington dispatches several weeks ago said would preface a determined campaign to plug the liquor leak from the Bahamas.

Heavy guard was posted around the federal government reservation, and officers limited themselves to admission of what the casual passer-by might see for himself—that there were new forces here. The arrivals included ten boats, two amphibian planes and 165 men. Only about 100 of the expected forces yet had appeared.

Three boats, the Kimball, Eaton and Woodbury arrived from the Norfolk, Va., base. They were 125-footers, which carry heavy guns than the 75-footers usually stationed here.

Vessels Carry Guns.

Lieutenant Commander Roemer, of the St. Petersburg base, on the Florida west coast, brought three 100-foot boats and four 75-footers. The 100-footers also carry heavier guns. No planes are in the regular equipment here. The newly-arrived amphibians, from Gloucester, Mass., are Loening's, equipped with radio.

The ostensible purpose of the two airplanes is an inspection of the Atlantic seaboard with a special eye on the possibilities of coast guard use of planes. The coast guard never has employed aircraft against rum runners on the Bahamas-Florida route.

COAST GUARD SEIZES RUM BOAT.

Miami, Fla., January 10.—(P)—Boatswain H. P. "Two Gun" Perry, champion rum runner collector of the Florida west coast, brought three 100-foot boats and four 75-footers. The 100-footers also carry heavier guns. No planes are in the regular equipment here. The newly-arrived amphibians, from Gloucester, Mass., are Loening's, equipped with radio.

The ostensible purpose of the two airplanes is an inspection of the Atlantic seaboard with a special eye on the possibilities of coast guard use of planes. The coast guard never has employed aircraft against rum runners on the Bahamas-Florida route.

Wife With 'It' Fined Because Husband Fled

Louisville, Ky., January 10.—(P)—Clad demurely in a baby leopard coat, small close fitting hat, with a wisp of bobbed tresses peeping from underneath, of a shade called "atmosphere," and with dainty cavity gongling from one wrist, Mrs. Helen Smith, 19, appeared before United States Commissioner Ossa W. Stanley on a liquor charge and entered a plea of "guilty to the whole works."

"Yes, sir, I'm guilty. It belonged to my husband, but he left through the back door when the officers came. I guess it's mine now," Mrs. Smith replied to the commissioner's query. "Chivalry? I'll say there isn't any."

She added, Mrs. Smith's bond was placed at $1,000 and charges of illegal possession of liquor and operating a still placed against her. Her automobile also was confiscated.

PALESTINE APPEAL

Campaign Plans Near Completion

Final arrangements for 1928 United Palestine appeal campaigns in a number of larger cities of the seven southern states controlled by regional headquarters in Atlanta will be made by Dr. Leo J. Frachtenberg, executive director, who left Atlanta Tuesday to tour the southern territory, according to a statement issued at headquarters.

Frachtenberg is to proceed directly to New Orleans, where preparations are being made to launch a $25,000 campaign as this city's quota of contributions made annually by the Jews of America toward aiding the growth of the Jewish homeland in Palestine. With exception of the Atlanta campaign, which is to raise $20,000, this will be the largest of any city in the southern territory.

From New Orleans Dr. Frachtenberg will go to Montgomery, Pensacola, Shreveport and Miami on the first lap of a trip to supervise final arrangements.

Local Jewish leaders have been selected in most of the cities to conduct campaigns. Miss Anne Bales, assistant to the executive director, who is now in Florida in the interest of the Atlanta U. P. headquarters, will aid Dr. Frachtenberg in the work in sections not visited by him personally.

Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas, comprising the territory administered from headquarters here, are to contribute more than $200,000 as this year's quota. Dr. Frachtenberg said before leaving. Much of this is to be raised in large cities now being visited, the director stated.

W. C. T. U. HEAD SCORES GOVERNOR SMITH.

New York, January 10.—(P)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, declared today that Governor Alfred E. Smith's "regard and present attitude" on prohibition make his support as a presidential candidate "impossible for any dry."

Delivering the keynote address which opened a two-day campaign conference of the W. C. T. U., at which delegates from the eastern states and Porto Rico assembled to support dry candidates for every office at the coming elections, Mrs. Boole declared the election of Smith as president would virtually mean there would be no enforcement at all.

She declared Governor Smith's record showed he always has been against the prohibition of local option, state-wide prohibition and national prohibition.

OHIO MINE OWNERS SCORN PEACE PLEA

Columbus, Ohio, January 10.—(P)—Coal operators of Ohio in a letter to Governor Vic Donahey today declined to participate in a conference with representatives of striking miners as suggested by the chief executive.

A meeting such as the governor suggested, members of the Ohio Coal Operators' association declared, would not "change or correct" conditions existing "as a result of the stand taken by the United Mine Workers of America and the miners themselves." The operators' announcement came after a four-hour session here and the text was put in a letter to Governor Donahey.

"For your information," the letter said, "and notwithstanding a proven conspiracy by the officials of the United Mine Workers of America to prevent Ohio mines from operating at any other than the Jacksonville scale ($7.50 a day), several thousand miners are now at work in Ohio, producing approximately 500,000 tons of coal per month under various plans to which they and their employers have agreed and at wages acceptable to them although less than the Jacksonville scale."

"A conference such as that proposed would only tend to disrupt the work in which these men are now engaged and we respectfully suggest that in its place the miners be urged to get in touch with their former employers who will immediately give them work."

DUNN REITERATES ECONOMY PROGRAM

W. E. Dunn, Jr., candidate for County Commissioner, stands for wise, economical operation of all county departments on straight-forward, business-like basis, with accurate cost keeping, to check and eliminate all "LEAKS" and adjusting expenditures to actual needs, stopping all pay raises in county cars and other extravagance, upbuilding bank accounts.

Trages reduction in all salaries paid officials commensurate with earnings in commercial institutions, saving upwards of $100,000 per year to be applied to schools, well paid teachers, fire stations, better police protection, well paid night police officers time and half for all overtime service as witnesses in court; a full envelope No. 1000 in accordance with my plan of more equitable distribution of road funds, joining and serving the two most thickly populated sections of county; widening and repaving Whitwell street and rushing Peters street to early completion; encouraging the removal of Peachtree Creek Disposal Plant, converting grounds into recreation park, and leaving a magnificent pay to all officeholders bordering close to the super-natural. No officials in Court House worth over $6,000 per year. All living costs (except Fulton officials' salaries) show declines past several years. Pay every man his full earned and deserved wage, but not one cent for political, vote-getting reasons or leaks of any kind whatever.

Eighty-eight banks recently broke in Georgia. We stand third lowest per capita wealth of 48 states. County's credit no longer acceptable at banks account prevailing extravagance; and no circumstance must official salaries continue to increase, but economy must rule.

Excess taxes are greatest obstacle to permanent sound prosperity already. Ruthless expenditures with no regard to purse of public must cease, accumulating surplus leading to tax reduction.

Replying to petitioners for West Tenth St. paving, $100,000 per year trimmed from officeholders' salaries will pave ten streets like West Tenth.

How many votes have you garnered and have ready to cast for a taxpayer's representative Thursday?

GET OUT AND VOTE. ELECT ME THURSDAY, JANUARY 12TH, AND I WILL SLASH ALL EXCESS SALARIES AND OTHER EXTRAVAGANCE, SAVING YOU THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS OF EXCESS. THE GIANT FRAUDS PERPETRATING THEM.

CAPONE DENIES HE IS CHICAGO 'CZAR'

Miami, Fla., January 10.—(P)—No "vice" regency over Chicago gambling and liquor operations under "Scarface Al" Capone is in prospect for Tim Murphy, former state senator, labor organizer and federal convict, the dapper ruler of gangland declared here tonight.

Capone asserted that he had "no connection whatever with Murphy." Chicago dispatches today said it had been learned the former legislator had been appointed prime minister of the realm ruled by Capone. It was pointed out that his labor connections and ability as a political "mixer" might qualify him for the post of "fixer." He still is president of the "Gas House Workers' union."

Capone Found in Hotel.
The dispatches said Capone refused to discuss the matter further than to issue the denial, and there was no verification of the report that Murphy is here.

The big beer and bomb baron was harder to reach than visiting nobility whose names and "scoundrels" appear in peering registers. It took more than an hour to reach him by telephone, and then the message was delivered by proxy. His name does not appear on the register of the prominent downtown hotel where he and his lieutenants have taken half of a floor.

NEGRO ARRESTED BY JERSEY POLICE AS ATLANTA SLAYER

New York, January 10.—(Special.) Robert Griggs, negro, said by the police to be known as James C. Williams, 34 years old, of 480 Grand street, Jersey City, was arrested today by Police Inspector John Underwood at the Central Railroad of New Jersey roundhouse at the foot of Communipaw avenue, Jersey City, where he is employed as a fire builder, on a charge of murder.

The Jersey City police say they had been informed that on July 18, 1926, while Griggs was living with his wife, Ida, and their young daughter, Catherine, at 197 Currier street, Atlanta, Ga., Griggs shot and killed Edward Ponder, another negro, also of Atlanta, with a shotgun. According to the police, Griggs had found two men and one woman with his wife on the porch of the Griggs home. The slaying is said to have taken place on Peachtree road. Griggs is said to have fled to Memphis, Tenn., immediately after the shooting, and to have gone thence to Chicago, then to Jersey City.

Police officials stated Tuesday night that, within the next few days, officers would be dispatched to Jersey City to return Griggs to Atlanta.

PASTOR WORRIES OVER SERMONS AS HOME BURNS

Titusville, Pa., January 10.—(P)—When his residence at Palatka, Fla., burned and destroyed practically all of his effects, the first thought of the Rev. Frederic H. Baker, Baptist pastor and evangelist, was to save his sermons.

"I realized they would go quickly as they were so dry," the minister explained in an account of the fire which he wrote and which was published in a local newspaper. The Rev. Baker is a former Titusville pastor.

Fine Weather Due to Prevail In City Today

Fine weather conditions, which mean a sunny sky without sign of rain and slightly warmer temperature average, will prevail in Atlanta and generally over north Georgia, according to the forecast for today issued by officials of the United States meteorological station. Fair weather also is slated for southern Georgia, while in that section there will be no temperature changes, the weather men put it.

In Atlanta Tuesday the thermometer registered a low of 35 degrees, with the mercury column climbing to 58 degrees for a maximum. The temperature range for today is scheduled to start at 33 degrees and reach a maximum level between 55 and 60 degrees, with the daily average slightly warmer than that of Tuesday.

SHIP OWNERS PICK BODY TO HELP U. S.

Washington, January 10.—(United News.)—Definite plans for establishment of an American merchant marine equal to any in the world were in prospect today as the nation's greatest ship operators appointed a committee to work with the United States Shipping Board to consider immediate obstacles.

Appointment of the committee was agreed to by ship operators from the Great Lakes, the Pacific coast, the Atlantic coast and representatives of midwestern interests, gathered at the call of the shipping board to take steps to bring American shipping back to its former high place in world commerce. The consensus of opinion at the conference was that the government should eliminate itself from the shipping business, but that it should aid in the development of the merchant marine through the shipping board.

President Coolidge, meanwhile, made known at the white house that he feels the government should not build any more ships, but that this does not necessarily mean abandonment of interest in development of the nation's merchant marine. He feels the government could aid private ownership by mail contracts or by granting some salaries to ship personnel in the form of a naval auxiliary.

TWO ADJUDGED SANE IN TRIANGLE MURDER

Homer, La., January 10.—(P)—A loophole open to them to escape trial for the slaying of J. Frank Jowers, former preacher, was closed to Mrs. Essie Jowers, widow of the slain man, and J. Elisha Swift, former soft-drink salesman, today when a majority report of a lunacy commission appointed at their request declared them sane and responsible for their acts.

A ray of hope for again raising the insanity plea was held out, however, when Dr. R. C. Young, Shreveport neurologist, submitted a minority report, in which he declared the couple insane and incapable of distinguishing right from wrong. Court attaches saw a possibility that an appeal from an adverse jury verdict might be taken in which the minority decision would be cited. Mrs. Jowers and Swift, brought into court to hear the decision of the alienists, were unmoved. They did not speak while in the courtroom.

HIGHWAY EXPERTS DECRY 'SAD PLIGHT' OF CONTRACTORS

Cleveland, January 10.—(P)—While engineers and state road officials were painting rosy pictures of a new era in road building, contractors attending the American Road Builders' convention here today heard two experts from their own number decry the unhealthy condition of industry for the rural highway contractor.

"Rural highway construction has wrecked more contractors than preferred bonds have wrecked homes," A. R. Hirst, chief engineer of the American Vibrolithic corporation, declared in voicing the contractors' protests to the practices of bonding companies who back unstable contractors through unfair methods. Allan Jay Parrish, president of the Illinois Association of Highway and Municipal Contractors, Paris, Ill., declared the industry was in a "sick and precarious condition" from the contractors' point of view.

PARDON OFFICIAL, WORRIED BY PLEAS, DECIDES TO RESIGN

Raleigh, N. C., January 10.—(P)—Because the pleas of mothers and relatives of condemned prisoners are nerve wracking and because of mental torture which occurs when he cannot recommend commutation for condemned men, Edward B. Bridges, North Carolina pardon commissioner, will vacate his office next January 1. Commission Bridges' term of office expires on that date and he said today "not under any circumstances" would he consent to serve longer.

GAME, FISH BODY HEARS TWO ANNUAL REPORTS

Annual reports of Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner, and R. W. Clancy, tidewater commissioner of Georgia, were submitted to the state board of game and fish at its annual meeting held at the capitol Tuesday. Members of the board present were D. M. Byrd, Lawrenceville, chairman; Dr. J. E. Harden, Whigham, and Charles S. Arnou, Kingsland.

Dr. Harden was sworn in as a new member of the board to succeed M. O. Dunning, who recently resigned. Those attending the session were entertained at a luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic club by John K. Orlitz, Atlanta banker and sportsman.

Promiscuous Forgery.
Waycross, January 10.—(Special.) Rowland Sanders, negro, is "old by county authorities on a charge of forgery, charges being preferred by a number of business houses and individuals. THREE DIE IN CRASH OF BIG CABIN PLANE

Canajoharie, N. Y., January 10.—(P)—Driving at full speed through an impenetrable fog which hid the earth beneath them, three aviators in a big cabin monoplane crashed to instant death in a farm meadow near Rural Grove, seven miles southeast of here, Sunday afternoon, it became known today.

The fog was so dense that although the plane crashed within 100 yards of a farmhouse and less than 200 yards from a traveled highway, the accident did not become known until this morning. The dead are: Raymond Henries, of Buffalo, a pilot in the air mail service; Captain Edward M. Pauley, of Albany, a commercial aviator; and George F. Benedict, of Peoria, Ill., a merchant, who was interested in aviation.

Columbia, S. C., January 10.—(P)—Faced with a deficit reported by Comptroller General A. J. Beattie as $3,700,000, the South Carolina legislature began its 1928 session today, with the problem of appropriations and revenues the chief issue.

G. Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton exchange, reported today. The average established during the same months of the preceding year was 222 pounds higher, the secretary reported.

Doty Pardoned, Then Freed, Returns to His Native Land

This is the nineteenth and last of a series of articles by Bennett J. Doty, American boy whose valiant service in the French Foreign Legion and his subsequent desertion, imprisonment and release made him a figure of world interest. In these articles Doty has related his remarkable experiences and described life in the famous legion from the "inside" as it is lived by the private.

BY BENNETT J. DOTY.
(Written Exclusively for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance. Copyright, 1928, in All Countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

After the revolt at Clairvaux prison I settled into a sort of semi-consciousness. Day after day I did the same things in the same way until I lost all count of time.

I didn't know where I was. I was taken before the director. Prisoner told me in session. What the guard told me was true. The director read an order sentencing my punishment, and returning me to the legion. It was as hard to realize I was leaving Clairvaux as it had been to see the French officials.

Then I walked to Aube. There I caught the train for Troyes and returned. The next day I was sent to Fort St. Jean at Marceilles. I was welcomed back into the legion with great kindness.

I was full of ambition to get into the Moroccan trouble, which they told me had produced a good scrap, in which the legion was taking a large part. I wanted to reestablish "best Clay" as a first-class soldier of the legion.

Fresh drafts were going forward to Morocco. I waited hopefully to go with one. After several days I received shots for typhus, typhoid and other diseases, was vaccinated against smallpox, had my hair cut and was all ready to march the following day, Friday, December 2.

We were ordered for inspection at 9 o'clock in the morning. This is the most rigid inspection of the legion. I was sewing a rip in my tunic when an orderly handed me a summons from the colonel's office. I reported this to my adjutant chief. He told me to forget the review and to see the colonel. When I went into the room he was holding a telegram from Paris.

"You understand French?" the colonel asked.

"Oui, mon colonel," I replied. He read a telegram from the ministry of war directing my release from the legion. It was almost as great a surprise as my release from Clairvaux. I had expected to serve out my enlistment, and would gladly have done so.

When a man joins the legion he takes no oath of allegiance to France and does not forfeit his citizenship. Hence, when I was turned over to the American consul, I was free.

"Gilbert Clare" died and Bennett J. Doty, American citizen, was resurrected.

The End.

'Barrel Test' Costs Positions Of Dry Raiders

Washington, January 10.—(United News.)—Assume that you are a prohibition agent and that while driving alone on a public highway, 9 o'clock at night and 20 miles distant from the nearest town, you discover a disabled and apparently abandoned truck loaded with barrels, which you are convinced contain intoxicating liquors.

What would you do? Because approximately 6,500 out of 12,000 applicants for federal prohibition positions, including many of the present staff, did not know how to answer this civil service examination question many new faces will be seen among those who raid the "blind tigers" and barrooms of the country.

Five Die in Fire.

El Dorado, Okla., January 10.—(AP)—A farmer named Gross, his wife and their three small children were burned to death when their farm home near here was destroyed by fire today.

FORGER IS GIVEN SENTENCE IN PEN

Pleading guilty to charges carried under 18 separate indictments, C. H. Baxter, former stock clerk in the central office of a gasoline distributor here, was given from three to seven years in the penitentiary by Judge E. D. Thomas in Fulton superior court today afternoon.

The true bill, several of which named J. H. Goldsmith as an accomplice, charged Baxter with larceny after trust, embezzlement and forgery. Investigators say he handled the accounts of filling stations throughout the state, forging signatures of various establishments and drawing checks against their banks.

Approximately $3,600 was misappropriated, indictments allege.

The case against Goldsmith is still pending.

Noted German, Scorning Title, Reaches U. S.

New York, January 10.—(United News.)—An unkempt little German with two dime-sized holes in his left sock, a wrinkled slouch hat and a vast contempt for the title of "noted German," arrived tonight on the White Star liner Maestricht.

He turned out to be Emil Ludwig, one of the greatest of modern biographers, who is "engaged" to America and wants to "marry" her as he can do so on a companionate basis. With Mrs. Ludwig, he has come to begin a lecture tour of the nation's principal cities. Author of the "Biography of Napoleon" and other works which have placed him among the literary upper tier, this is the curious Ludwig's first visit to the United States and admittedly it is a critical one.

VENUE CHANGE DENIED FARMER IN MURDER CASE

Mountain Home, Ark., January 10.—(AP)—Failing to obtain a change of venue, T. C. Farlin, 45, charged with murder in connection with the fatal burning of two of his children and Frank Floyd, 16, a roamer, last week requested at his preliminary hearing here today that the trial be continued until Thursday and the motion was granted.

Farlin entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Girkin.

PANAMA'S CHIEF FLIES WITH LINDY ON ANTI-WAR PACT

Panama, January 10.—(AP)—The president and vice president of Panama were passengers in a De Havilland biplane flown by Charles A. Lindbergh today, providing a high spot in a day full of festivities in honor of the aviator's return.

After a short test flight, Colonel Lindbergh took President Chirari up for a 15-minute trip. When the executive stepped from the aircraft after the first ride of his life he said: "Admirable! Magnificent! A man must fly in order to realize the universal order of things." Other officials also were taken for trips by Lindbergh.

The flier was entertained at luncheon, receptions and sightseeing trips. Everywhere he went he was acclaimed with the utmost enthusiasm. This morning he laid wreaths on the statue of Butte in the universal order of things. Other officials also were taken for trips by Lindbergh.

COSTA RICA PUBLISHER PRAISES 'LINDY'

Editor's Note: The following appreciation of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's visit to Costa Rica, which preceded his Panama flight, was written by Rafael Huete, publisher of Diario de Costa Rica.

Publisher of Diario de Costa Rica, San Jose, Costa Rica, January 10.—(AP)—Costa Rica has received the visit of the glorious Colonel Lindbergh with the enthusiasm awakened in a people only by the arrival of a great man like of which the civilized world has not seen since the first conquest of the Atlantic.

Who does not know of this American? If his voyage across the Atlantic awakened in all the people of the world a cry of admiration, this new visit to Costa Rica, a country whose people have awakened in these people a sentiment most profound of sympathy and fellow feeling.

The heroic Lindbergh, or knight of the air, enveloped in the flag of the United States, has been an admiral ambassador who has enlaced the hearts of the Costa Ricans between Washington and Panama.

He has just received in triumph in Costa Rica. The government and the people have accepted him as one of their own. No one could be of his visit the most cordial friendship was the lot of this hero of aviation.

PROSECUTOR REOPENS SCHOOL HISTORY TRIAL

Chicago, January 10.—(AP)—The Chicago school board's prosecutor today made good his announcement to continue with the trial of William McAndrew, superintendent of schools, despite the fact his term has expired and he is away from Chicago.

McAndrew is in Iowa lecturing on "Life Among the Boneheads." The former superintendent is classed as a "holdover" official, the board attorney said. "There remains enough evidence to require several more sessions of the trial, it was indicated.

The prosecution of principals and school teachers who have been attacking the 100 per cent test introduced into the school system by McAndrew was continued when Miss Edith P. Shonard, principal of the Avon Park school, testified.

BARBER, WEAKER, BARRED VISITORS BY DOCTOR'S ORDER

Mexico City, January 10.—(AP)—Lyman F. Barber, American mining engineer who escaped from Mexican bandits after three weeks' captivity, was reported weaker today from his privations and more nervous than when he returned Sunday night.

Mrs. Barber would not permit anyone to see him except a physician, fearing that the visits of even close friends would aggravate his condition, which is not considered serious. Physicians say he requires careful nursing and complete rest.

GIRL STOWAWAY, 14, CURED OF WANDER LUST, BACK HOME

New York, January 10.—(AP)—Beatrice Reiser, 14, like so many others, saw with envious eyes her aunt board a ship for a cruise around the world. Thirty-six hours after she had borrowed her brother's clothes to attempt a similar trip as a stowaway, she came home tired, hungry and with a mother, like so many others, fixed her meal and sent her to bed without a question.

Train Kills Six.

Budapest, Hungary, January 10.—(AP)—Six persons were killed today when a freight train ran into hundreds of passengers waiting for a local train at the station at Rakoshagy. The freight engineer, driving in an early morning haze, failed to observe a warning signal and swept down the rails parallel to the station where the crowd was waiting.

Hardy Is Worse.

Dorchester, England, January 10.—(AP)—Thomas Hardy, British novelist, who has been ill for several weeks, passed a restless night. He was reported to be not so well this morning.

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—French amendments to the American draft for an arbitration treaty between the two countries increasing the number of categories of international disputes which would be accepted from compulsory arbitration will render necessary further discussion between the two governments before a complete agreement can be reached.

In the last French communication to the state department it was suggested that all disputes involving France's obligation as a member of the League of Nations should never be submitted to arbitration even if they should give rise to disputes between the two countries. The United States on its own accord had proposed that questions of purely domestic character, matters involving a third country and problems affecting the Monroe doctrine should be excepted from arbitration.

Phrasology Called Vague.

State department officials said today that although they could see no immediate objection in principle to this French amendment the phraseology contained in it was too vague to allow an exact determination of the scope of the proposed new exception. For this reason the department would ask the government to be asked to define more exactly the extreme of this new reservation.

Officials also suggested that in case the two governments should be unable to reach an agreement as to the arbitration to which to submit an arbitration case then the dispute should be referred to the League of Nations.

The French amendment was submitted to The Hague tribunal under the terms of The Hague convention of 1907.

Lazy Christians Of Atlanta Hit By Evangelist

"Adam and Eve lived on easy street until they ate themselves out of 'house' and 'home' and then they wandered in America and other parts of the world are disabbling themselves from the glories of heaven because they are leaving to hirelings the saving of their own souls."

This statement was made Tuesday night by Judge Roscoe Luke, of the Georgia court of appeals, during a stinging tirade launched against church members who spend so much time in business and banqueting that they neglect their religious duties, and leaving the preacher to gain entrance into heaven by his own efforts.

Judge Luke's indictment was made in a sermon at the Baptist tabernacle where he is conducting a two-week revival campaign. A large audience attended his sermon, many of which were a solo by Charles Butler, noted evangelist singer and choir director, Miss Lillian Butler, his daughter, an accomplished pianist, played the accompaniment. The meetings will continue through Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock each night, with the exception of Saturday, when no service will be held.

"Church members who think they are getting by when they let the praying and singing be done for a fall and will awake with a jolt," Judge Luke declared. "No one else can confess for you. No one can do your praying. It is up to you. God expects you to be right yourself and no matter how righteous your family, friends or acquaintances may be, it will avail you nothing unless you have made your own peace with your Maker."

MEANEST MAN REPLACES MILK WITH RED RUM

Little Rock, January 10.—(AP)—The much-abused and long-sought "meanest man in the world" lives here, officials declared today after a prohibitionist poured into their ears his tale of woe—the story of how every morning for a week a sinister stranger stole his milk bottle, milk and in its place left a pint bottle of red corn liquor. Officers refused to make public the victim's name and said they were trying to locate the offender, but would not say whether he had been arrested.

Word of the woe-filled wrongdoer spread rapidly and tonight the victim had received 13 offers to sell his home and 34 offers to rent it. Others clamored to keep a sharp lookout for the milk thief.

ORR PAID TRIBUTE BY MERCHANT BODY

Resolutions paying high tribute to the life of the late William W. Orr, a past president of the Atlanta Retail Merchants association and an official of the George Musc Clothing company, were adopted at a recent meeting of the directors of the merchants' association.

"We desire to place on record and to bear witness to his character and to unite with others in paying honor to his memory and to offer our deepest sympathy to those who have been called on to sustain this great bereavement," the resolutions said.

DR. WM. L. GILBERT'S PLATFORM FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:

In announcing my candidacy for County Commissioner to succeed the late Honorable Charles C. Turner, in the election to be held tomorrow, January 12, 1928, I wish to state some of the principles for which I stand.

I favor the protection of public health. I realize that Atlanta is a large part of the taxpaying population of the county and it shall be my pleasure as a County Commissioner to cooperate to bring about adequate sewage disposal facilities. I favor the relocation of the present sewage disposal plants, the establishment of other disposal plants in the most remote parts of the county far removed from residential sections, looking to the protection of the health of the people of both the city and county.

Peachtree Creek, Proctor Creek, South River and the old Lloyd street sewer branch should be unpolluted, as should all other streams in the county. I will cooperate to bring about this condition as well as help to create and develop beautiful parks as the finances and facilities of the county will permit.

During my previous term as County Commissioner, extending over a period of seven years, I helped in starting the developments known as the North Side Drive and Riverside Drive. I favor completing these two developments.

I favor carrying forward to completion the work now under way to repave Lakewood avenue from Lakewood Heights to the Southeastern Fair Grounds.

I shall work for the development of Lee street as a boulevard, adequate for the enormous traffic demands, from the center of the city to the county line beyond College Park.

A dangerous grade crossing exists at Bolton. I will work for the completion of a road and underpass in that community which has been decided on by the present board.

With the enormous increase in population of our outlying sections, the matters of water facilities, sewer extension and fire protection have become acute problems. I shall exert my best efforts to provide these facilities if they can be legally provided, and to advocate and work for enabling legislation where they cannot now be legally provided.

My sentiments and interests are county-wide. I know that I can work in peace and harmony with the officials of the City of Atlanta and Fulton county.

It shall be my constant endeavor to pave those streets and roads which will provide the greatest facility and convenience to the most populous sections.

I feel that my previous experience on the Board gives me a knowledge of county affairs that will enable me to spend tax money wisely, judiciously and economically. I will leave you, the people amongst whom I have lived all my life, to judge of my ability and integrity. If on my record of performance and my promise of patriotic devotion to duty you favor me with your vote tomorrow I shall be duly grateful and will safeguard your trust.

WILLIAM L. GILBERT.

'OLD-TIME' DEBATE PEPS UP SENATE

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Tariff and taxation, that old legislative team, monopolized the spotlight today in congress while favorites of lesser public appeal made their voices heard intermittently and with difficulty.

A genuine, old-fashioned debating performance was put on by the senate with Harrison, of Mississippi, Watson, of Indiana; Borah, of Idaho; Bruce, of Maryland; Fess, of Ohio; Brookhart, of Iowa; McMaster, of South Dakota; McNary, of Oregon, and others joining in to swell the volume in the discussion of the tariff, which has been raised by McMaster.

Tax Cut Debated.

Ostensibly the senate was considering whether it should declare in favor of a downward revision of the tariff, but taxes crept into the proceedings, occasionally, notably at the instance of Harrison, who undertook to make fun of the position of Reed Smoot, of Utah, who is determined that no bill shall be approved until the March 15 tax returns are in.

Back and forth, the debate went on all afternoon, nobody giving ground and nobody admitting error. It was punctuated at times by a few observations not relevant to the subject under discussion, one of these instances being when Senator Norcross gave his opinion of the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., of Canada, which has been linked up with the Teapot Dome case.

The house went along with the appropriation bill for four government departments under a rule which gave little room for the airing of personal opinion. Madden, of the appropriations committee, got the floor long enough to tell his fellow representatives that it would be hard work for any unplanned appropriations to be approved by the house.

Probers Continue Work.

House committees, however, were unusually active, even for that fast-moving branch of congress. Director Hines, of the veterans' bureau, gave one of them a plan for spending $10,500,000 for veterans' hospitals. James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, appeared before another to defend his right to a seat in the house from Pennsylvania.

The house ways and means committee approved a plan to give world war veterans two more years to apply for the bonus. Flood control hearings went along with special interest being devoted to Kentucky's problem and the examination of Rear Admiral Magruder on naval problems came to a conclusion.

In the senate committee rooms hearings were held on the Umattila Rapids dam project, a big issue on the Pacific coast. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, the democratic spokesman, laid his plan to prevent delay of the tax plan until March 15, and Senator Nye, of North Dakota, called a meeting for tomorrow for his investigating committee which will go further into the Teapot Dome case. Vane and Wilson, the Pennsylvania senators, were directed to be on hand Friday for further action in their case, and Commissioner Hall, of the interstate commission, talked railroad consolidation.

MONOPLANE IS SENT FOR SIGHT-SEEING AT PAN-AM. MEET

Curtis Field, N. Y., January 10.—(AP)—Captain Charles E. D. Collier took today for Washington on the first leg of a flight to Havana in a monoplane which will be put into service by the Pan-American Airways.

The ship will be used for sight seeing and other purposes during the Pan-American conference there next week.

While this plane was leaving, the second Sikorski amphibian—the first was the ill-fated "Dawn" in which Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson was being landed by Wilmer Stultz, once Mrs. Grayson's pilot. After a series of tests the plane will be placed in service by the Pan-American line between Key West, Fla., and Havana, carrying passengers and mail.

BECK DENIES PLOT IN FIGHT FOR SEAT

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—James M. Beck, fighting to retain his seat as a republican representative from Pennsylvania, today described himself as a Philadelphian who was in his home town "almost every week."

Testifying under oath before the house elections committee investigating democratic charges that he is ineligible because he was not an inhabitant of Pennsylvania at the time of his selection, Beck, a former solicitor general of the United States, described his Washington home as that which held the things he loved most.

Spends Time in Capital.

His books and paintings are in Washington, he added, asserting that his residence here was pretensions as compared to his Philadelphia apartment.

"I admit that I spend more time in my Washington home than in my Philadelphia home," Beck said, "but I am in Philadelphia almost every week."

The fight before the committee against Beck is being conducted by Representative Kent, democrat, Pennsylvania, who announced today that various Philadelphians, including William H. Embart, chairman of the citizens' party, an independent organization, would be summoned to testify regarding Beck's eligibility.

Pays Taxes in N. J.

Embart would voice his objections, Kent said, to a man whom democrats contend was a citizen of another state. Kent charged that the apartment rented in Philadelphia by Beck served not as a residence, but as a point of registration for political purposes.

Kent said the former solicitor general's taxes were paid in New Jersey and he was a legal resident of that state. He expressed doubt that Mr. Beck was a legal voter in Pennsylvania, although, he said, a hurried effort had been made to get him on voters' list where his name appeared twice.

WHITE MAN FLEES AS GIRL'S SCREAMS AROUSE NEIGHBORS

Police Tuesday night were seeking an unidentified white man who attacked a 11-year-old girl on Capitol avenue about 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night while she was walking home from school. The attack was frustrated when the girl's screams brought neighbors to the scene. Her assailant escaped.

The girl, carried to a nearby hospital, was found to be suffering only from slight bruises about the neck, and was permitted to go to her home. Call Officers McGarrity and Glinn investigated.

CONGRESS IS ASKED AUTHORITY FOR TWO SOUTHERN BRIDGES

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—The granting of authority of congress to the Louisiana highway commission to construct a highway bridge or a combination highway and railroad bridge across the Mississippi river at Baton Rouge, La., is sought in a bill introduced today by Senator Broussard, democrat, Louisiana.

Authority for the Alabama highway department to bridge the Coosa river near Pell City on the Pell City-Anniston highway was asked in a bill by Representative Allgood, democrat, of that state.

AT OUTS FOR YEARS, 2 BROTHERS FIGHT FOR SAME OFFICE

Sheboygan, Wis., January 10.—(AP)—Political warfare has broken out in the Voight family with brother contending against brother for the circuit judgeship.

The political contest which will be decided by the voters in the April election is between former Congressman Edward Voight and his brother, Charles, for 12 years district attorney of Sheboygan county.

Both graduated from the University of Wisconsin. They practiced law together for many years, dissolving partnership in 1910. Both served the county as district attorney. For many years they have been frankly on the outs and do not speak.

SANDSTORM ON OCEAN SPOILS OLD-TIME JOKE

San Francisco, January 10.—(AP)—The joke about the sea being dusty is no longer a joke. Pershing Accepts Job as Director Of Capital Bank

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Making his first business connection since retiring from active army service, General Pershing has become a member of the board of directors of the Riggs National bank, one of the largest financial institutions in the east.

Heretofore the leader of the American armies in the world war had declined all business offers, confining his activities to affairs of a civic or military nature.

Along with General Pershing, Edwin B. Parker, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was made a director. Mr. Parker has headed commissions for the settlement of world war claims and was one of the organizers of the war industries board.

HOUSE UNIT TO PROBE FLOODS IN KENTUCKY

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Having learned today about the destructive floods in eastern Kentucky, the house flood control committee plans tomorrow to turn again from its study of the Mississippi valley's problems to inquire into last fall's inundations in New England.

The New England congressional delegation, with Representative Gibson, republican, Vermont, and Edith Nourse Rogers, republican, Massachusetts, as spokesmen, contemplates presenting a complete description of the flood losses of that region and outlining the need for federal government aid in building highways and bridges, particularly in Vermont, destroyed by the inundation.

A similar plea for federal funds to rehabilitate the disrupted highway system in the mountain counties of eastern Kentucky was made at today's hearing by a group of that state's members of congress and officials.

FORMER TEACHER IN SUNDAY SCHOOL FREED BY JUDGE

Clearwater, Fla., January 10.—(AP)—Declaring that the state had been unable to introduce evidence sufficiently incriminating to warrant continuing the trial Judge Orville L. Dayton late today dismissed the case of Harris L. Browne, former Sunday school superintendent at St. Petersburg, charged with a statutory offense in connection with the death of a 10-year-old girl following an alleged illegal operation.

With the jury out of the courtroom, counsel for the state and the defense argued the case before Judge Dayton who, after a short deliberation, ordered the case thrown out of court.

STUDENT AVIATOR KILLED IN CRASH AT FLYING FIELD

Grafton, Mass., January 10.—(AP)—George W. Knowlton, of West Upton, was killed and Captain Henry E. Stickney, of Hartford, pilot of the New England Aircraft corporation at the Worcester aviation field in North Grafton, was probably fatally injured at noon today when an airplane in which Captain Stickney was giving instructions to Knowlton made a nose dive of several hundred feet into a stone wall.

Captain Stickney is in Worcester City hospital with both arms and both legs broken.

Knowlton was to be best man at the wedding of his brother, John E. Knowlton, to Placida White, daughter of the Rev. Robt. White, of Thomaston, Ga., at Thomaston next Tuesday. His widow and a son survive.

FORMER SWEETHEART OF MRS. WEST QUIZZED

Painesville, Ohio, January 10.—(AP)—The grand jury that will decide whether 21-year-old Velma West shall stand trial on a first-degree murder charge for the killing of her husband, T. Edward West, today heard the testimony of a 55-year-old man who said he was her former sweetheart.

He is William Chapman, proprietor of a Cleveland restaurant, who was quoted in newspapers after West was killed as declaring that Velma broke off their romance when she eloped with the man she later killed. Details of the bridge party that was the basis of the quarrel between young West and his bride culminating in his death were laid before the jury by a group of young women friends of Mrs. West.

Quarrel With Husband.

In her confession, as quoted by Prosecutor Seth Paulin, the girl said she quarreled with West when he objected to her attending the party in Cleveland, struck him down with a hammer and left him on the floor of their bedroom while she went to the party. Among the girl's witnesses was Mabel Young, hostess at the bridge gathering, and at whose home Velma passed the night.

Twenty-four witnesses waited their turns today to go before the jury. One of them was a former employer of Mrs. West, who said he had discharged her because "she paid too much attention to the boys." Many others were neighbors who were called to tell of the domestic life of the country boy, West, and his city-bred wife.

'Prosperous Farming,' Farmers' Week Slogan

Athens, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—"Prosperous Farming" has been selected as the keynote slogan for the twenty-first annual Farmers' Week and Marketing conference to be held at the Georgia State College of Agriculture, January 23-25. It is announced by Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the college.

The program for the week, providing for sessions of the conference morning, afternoon and night, includes as speakers an imposing array of state officials, prominent Georgians, marketing specialists, government experts, club women, county agents, and others.

Commenting on the slogan, "prosperous farming," Dr. Soule said: "Everyone is interested in the attainment of this much-desired end, for no one element of our closely interrelated society can now hope to be successful at the expense of another. The painful experiences of recent years have demonstrated the correctness of this truism. Hence, it seems appropriate that the enthusiastic and generous support of every forward-looking, patriotic citizen of the state should be centered upon making this meeting the most successful and serviceable of any yet held."

TWO CONGRESSMEN HAVE VERBAL TILT OVER CARE OF VETS

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—A verbal exchange took place today at a house veterans subcommittee hearing between Representatives Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, and Lucie, republican, Massachusetts, over a statement by the latter that some southern and western states had not been as generous to providing for war veterans as eastern states.

Rankin denied the accuracy of the statement, contending that Mississippi was caring for its veterans and that the veterans' bureau only recently had removed some patients from the state hospital at Meridian, Miss.

Molena, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—J. W. Self, aged 70, was struck by a southbound freight train at a crossing here today and is probably fatally injured.

Self, whose age had made his hearing defective, was approaching the track from the east with some lumber across his shoulder and did not see the train until it struck him. Trainmen took Self to his home near the tracks.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Mrs. W. I. Evans.

Macon, Ga.—"I was having a lot of trouble with my stomach, my digestion was bad, gas would form after eating causing me distress. I also developed a chronic cough. Some nights I would not be able to sleep or get any rest at all, would cough the whole night long, and when morning came I would be completely worn out and exhausted. I took many different medicines for my trouble but still went on suffering. I was almost a wreck and the first and only help I got was through taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It relieved me of my indigestion and stomach trouble, my cough disappeared and I have never had any return of these complaints since. 'The Discovery' has been a household remedy with my family ever since."—Mrs. I. J. Evans, 73 Bibb Ave., All druggists. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c if you desire a trial pkg. tablets.—(adv.)

MEXICO WILL ASK "SPY" DEPORTED

New York, January 10.—(P)—Arthur M. Elias, Mexican consul general, today said he would ask the deportation of Jacob Novitsky, self-styled international spy whose name has been mentioned in connection with the forged Mexican documents. Elias said he paid Novitsky $1,200 in the last six months for spurious documents which purported to reveal plans of American financiers and Catholics in this country to run guns into Mexico. Elias described Novitsky as a "trouble maker" and said he merely gave him the money in an attempt to trap him. Novitsky is now living in Brooklyn.

U. S. LAWYERS ACT TO PROBE DRY LAW

New Orleans, January 10.—(P)—An investigation by the American Bar association of the prohibition law and its administration was proposed here today in a report submitted to the executive committee of the association by the committee on criminal law and criminology.

Other reports submitted recommended codification of international law as a means toward peace and regulation of aviation by states as well as by the federal government. The executive committee ended its midwinter meeting tonight and adjourned. The reports submitted will be acted upon at the regular meeting of the association at Seattle, Wash., beginning July 23.

Evasion of Law.

The report of the committee on criminal law, which was submitted by Justin Miller, of Los Angeles, chairman, contained the statement that "the criminal class which has been developed to evade the prohibition law is engaging in all manner of other crimes" and that the "official protectors" of the criminals have to protect them in their other crimes as well. This brings on the report said, "a general lawlessness, with killings, robberies and the rest, and with few arrests, few convictions and a rising distrust of the courts and officials generally among the people."

The committee on international law urged the settlement of disputes between nations by arbitration, treaties to prevent war and codification of international law. The report was submitted by James Brown Scott, of Washington, chairman.

Principle Approved.

The proposed treaty between France and the United States to "outlaw" war was approved in principle. "The committee expresses the opinion," the report said, "that a treaty may properly be concluded tending to that effect, although the term outlaw may not be mentioned nor the word 'war' be included specifically for that purpose."

"Every Treaty Containing Expressions for a firm, inviolable and universal peace, providing for respect to peaceful settlement after diplomacy has broken down and providing for limitation or reduction of armament is an inevitable step toward outlawry of war."

The report said international law should be codified so there can be an agreement by nations in conflict upon the law to be applied.

The large powers will not consent to be invited before an international court of justice," it was stated, "unless they are sure in advance of the law which is to be applied to the settlement of their disputes."

34 HAVE PAID PENALTY IN LAST MONTH
Await Death in U. S. Prisons

Editor's Note.—The impending execution of Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray at Sing Sing this week, the Hickman case in California and the Velma West husband murder in Ohio again have focused public attention on capital punishment. In that connection the United News, through its domestic wire system, has just completed a country-wide survey which reveals that although there is some scattered agitation for abolition of the death penalty, capital punishment is firmly entrenched in most states and at the present time is claiming more victims than ever before.

(Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution)

New York, January 10.—(United News).—In the death houses of American prisons and jails today 97 men and two women await the hour when they must go out to meet certain death in expiration of their crimes. Although it has been abolished in several states, capital punishment in this country today probably is claiming more victims than ever before. In a few states, as in New York where Ruth Snyder is to be put to death Thursday night, the issue of capital punishment for being brought to the fore by agitation against it but in the main electric chairs and the hangman's ropes appear to be permanent instruments of the law.

A survey just completed by United News correspondents throughout the country reveals that 99 persons are awaiting execution during the early days of 1928; that 34 persons have been hanged or electrocuted within the last month, and that except in New York, the District of Columbia and Massachusetts, the agitation for abolition of the death penalty is virtually non-existent.

The two women under condemnation to death for murder are Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Catherine Cassler. The latter is to be hanged in Illinois for the murder of her husband.

The impending executions by states were reported as follows: New York, 11; Georgia, 10; Florida, 17; Alabama, 10; Texas, 8; California, 7; Ohio, 5; Pennsylvania, 5; District of Columbia, 5; Massachusetts, 3; North Carolina, 3; Nebraska, 2; Missouri, 2; Oregon, 2; Colorado, 2; Illinois, 2; Vermont, 1; New Hampshire, 1; New Jersey, 1; Washington, 1; Tennessee, 1.

Two states, Illinois and Alabama, are abolishing hanging in favor of the electric chair, but the criminals under death sentence in those states at the present time will be hanged. Nevada executes its criminals with lethal gas, but has put no one to death in more than a year. Utah gives condemned persons a choice of death by a firing squad or by hanging. They usually choose the firing squad. Mississippi inflicts the death penalty for first degree murder, but no one in that state is under sentence.

A bill to abolish capital punishment has been introduced in the Massachusetts legislature and two bills seeking abolition are before the congressional District of Columbia committee. A similar measure was introduced in the New York legislature this week but was withdrawn by its author pending revision.

CLEMENCY REFUSED RUTH AND LOVER

certain knowledge that Governor Smith has refused them clemency. Warden Lewis E. Lawes said tonight that word of the governor's adverse decision would be kept from them. The first intimation—unless their lawyers inform them—that they have no hope left will be when the grim some preliminaries to electrocution are begun Thursday night.

Warden Lawes said that in all probability he would receive the official notification of the governor's decision.

"Law Takes Its Course." "When a governor grants a stay, or a pardon or commutation of sentence, he is not the warden," the warden said. "But when clemency is denied, no official word to that effect is sent to the warden. The law takes its course."

"It is an ironbound rule in this prison that only official messages are brought to condemned prisoners. If no official word comes from the governor, certainly no message from any other source will be taken to Mrs. Snyder or Gray."

It was said at the prison that only rarely do condemned persons hear from their keepers or anyone else inside the institution that clemency has been denied them. Supplying such news, it is feared, would plunge the recipients into hysteria or such extreme melancholia that disruption of death house discipline might result.

Governor Smith's refusal to extend clemency climaxed an extremely bad day for the woman who, pretending resignation, convinced her guards that she was severely clinging to hope.

The smoldering differences between Edgar E. Hazleton, Mrs. Snyder's attorney, and Joseph H. Leonard, her appeal counsel, flared into personal hostility.

Two Lawyers Hostile.

Hot words were exchanged between them when Hazleton accused Leonard of making public the contents of a letter which Leonard received from Mrs. Snyder Monday night. In recounting the incident, Leonard said Hazleton threatened to bar him if he should attempt to disparage him.

"I told him to go as far as he liked," Leonard said, asserting that the Snyder's letter authorized him to be her counsel of record and that it was now unnecessary for him to recognize Hazleton as chief counsel.

Meanwhile, the condemned woman waited impatiently in her cell for the arrival of Hazleton, Leonard and Dana Wallace for the all-important conference.

Finally she was told that the conference at the prison had been called off for the day and replaced by a conference in Hazleton's apartment.

Still later, Warden Lawes received a telegram addressed to Mrs. Snyder and signed by all three lawyers saying that they were in accord and at work on plans in her behalf which they would reveal to her in a conference at the prison Wednesday.

Wife Visits Gray.

The reassuring telegram to Mrs. Snyder was belied by a statement earlier in the day by Leonard, in which he said that Hazleton's opposition to further court action, "whether

The spotlight was turned upon Gray today by an unexpected visit from his wife, Mrs. Isabella Gray, who has been living with her brother-in-law, Frank T. Brundage, of Norwalk, Conn. She arrived at Sing Sing Thursday night, according to reports about the prison, ask for $250 for the woman's death.

But old-time prison men today recalled that the late executioner, Edward Davis, received $250 for killing Mrs. Mary Farmer in Auburn prison 20 years ago, and the same amount was paid for the execution of Mrs. Martha Place in Sing Sing 20 years ago.

Throughout the Southeast Brick & Tile Construction Leads!

NO LESS than 82.82% of all permits for new buildings (costing $5,000 and over) were for brick and tile construction! Typical Southeastern cities were considered during three average months. Were the value of the buildings—instead of the number—to be considered, this 82.82% average would be even higher! Brick and tile are the most popular of all building materials throughout the Southeast!

The Southeast is building with enduring materials—burned clay products. And with the increasing use of fire-safe construction, it is reasonable to expect that fire insurance rates in this section will eventually be reduced. The Southeast has found out that the true cost of a brick and tile home is not greater than for one of substitute materials. The actual facts are available for you—banish the bugaboo of “can’t afford the cost”—get the books listed below, if you’re thinking of building.

Now in MAcon “Heart of Georgia” BRICK and Tile Construction LEADS!

93.54% of the permits for new buildings in Macon during July, August and September, 1927, were for brick and tile construction! These figures include all buildings costing $5,000 and more. The details:

Solid Brick	6.46%	Tile	3.24%
Brick and Tile	3.24	Tile-Stucco	9.68
Brick Veneer	70.92	Frame	6.46

The home of enduring burned clay products is ever gaining in popularity because it costs practically no more at the outset and far less over a period of years. Get the facts, mail the coupon below.

Believers in Jacksonville Believe in BRICK & TILE construction.

BRICK AND TILE—enduring burned clay products—lead all other building materials in Jacksonville! 71.893% of the permits for new buildings in the Florida metropolis, during July, August and September, 1927, were for brick and tile construction. Figures include all buildings costing $5,000 or more:

Solid Brick	16 Buildings	13.228%
Brick Veneer	40	33.067
Hollow Tile	4	3.307
Brick and Tile	12	9.921
Tile-Stucco	11	9.064
Concrete Block	6	4.959
Frame	23	23.148
Brick-Stucco	1	.826
Stone and Brick	3	2.480
121 Buildings		100.000%

Were this percentage to be based on the value of the buildings, rather than on the number of permits, brick and tile would have an even greater lead over other forms of construction. If you contemplate building soon, by all means mail the coupon below.

Now in Atlanta “Gate City of the South” BRICK and Tile Construction LEADS

THE growing preference for enduring burned clay products is seen in building permits for the city of Atlanta for the months of July, August and September, 1927. Of buildings costing $5,000 and more—95.11% were of brick and tile construction! The figures:

Solid Brick	10.87%	Brick and Concrete	.54%
Brick Veneer	79.35	Steel	.54
Tile and Stone	1.09	Brick and Steel	.213
Brick, Steel and Wood	.54	Concrete	.54
Brick Veneer-Stucco	.54	Frame	.351

For true economy—for lasting comfort and pride—build with brick and tile.

Tampa Florida Is Building With BRICK & TILE

BURNED clay-products construction—enduring brick and tile—accounted for 71.43% of the new buildings erected in Tampa, during July, August and September, 1927. The preference for these permanent materials is shown by the figures on structures costing $5,000 and more:

CONSTRUCTION	BUILDINGS	PERCENTAGE
Hollow Tile	1	3.58%
Cement-Brick	1	3.58
Concrete Block	8	28.57
Brick	13	64.27
		100.00%

And in Columbus Georgia BRICK & TILE Construction Leads

ANALYSIS of building permit records in Columbus, for the months of July, August and September, 1927, demonstrate the ever-growing preference for burned clay products.

80.96% of all buildings costing $5,000 and more were of brick and tile construction! If the value of the buildings were considered, instead of the number, this percentage would reach 92.33%.

Here is the Columbus record:

Solid Brick	33.33%
Brick Veneer	33.33
Brick and Tile	9.53
Tile-Stucco	4.77
Frame	9.52
Frame-Metal Covered	4.76
Frame-Stucco	4.76

And in Savannah Georgia BRICK & TILE Construction Shows the Way

ACCORDING to the Savannah Board of Trade, masonry construction accounted for 79.312% of all new construction in that city during July, August and September, 1927. The figures for these typical months [showing the big lead that brick and tile hold in buildings costing $5,000 and more] follow:

Frame	5 Buildings	17.241%
Brick Veneer	20	68.966
Hollow Tile-Brick	1	3.449
Brick Stucco	1	3.448
Tile Stucco	1	3.448
Steel Structure	1	3.448
Total	29	100%

Brick Veneer on frame	1 7,000
Brick and Tile	1 10,500
Tile-Stucco	3 35,100
Stucco on frame	1 10,000

Before you build, get the facts about enduring burned clay products. Don't let a mistaken idea of “greater cost” keep you from building for permanency!

MAGRUDER ENDS ATTACK ON NAVY

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder today concluded before the house naval committee an eleven-day defense of his published articles accusing the navy of over organization and waste in administration.

Representative Darrow, republican, Pennsylvania, who presided at today's session, said that the admiral, who was relieved of the command of the Philadelphia navy yard after the articles appeared, had "freely, practically and courageously" given the committee the information it desired. He thanked the admiral on behalf of the committee. Several committee members have indicated they will ask Magruder to draft a plan that would embody his ideas of how economies could be effected in naval operations.

Magruder today testified under questioning by Representative Wolcott, republican, New Jersey, that naval warship construction could be done more cheaply by private contract. The admiral estimated the government expended $100,000,000 a year in salaries to navy yard employees for which it received no work in return.

Mystery Cosmic Rays in Asia Baffle Scientists of World

Moscow, January 10.—(United News.)—Unknown cosmic rays, emanating from interplanetary space, have been discovered in Kokand, middle Asia.

The rays have a penetrating power many times stronger than radio and 200 times stronger than the X-ray. The source of these cosmic rays has not been discovered and a scientific expedition has been organized in the highest mountain in the Kokand range to study the phenomenon.

PROFESSOR SAYS OTHER RAYS HAVE BEEN FOUND.
London, January 10.—(United News.)—Professor A. M. Low, a famous British scientist, said today that the cosmic ray discovery in Kokand "simply implies the finding of a new ray whose source is unknown, many of which have been found recently through the extended use of the spectroscopic."

"It must be emphasized," he said, "that many of these are found in particular geographic positions under certain atmospheric conditions. The fact that the ray is much stronger than the X-ray which, under certain conditions, is harmful to human beings, in no wise indicates that it would be harmful to humans since it probably will be found in an entirely different character and make-up than the X-ray."

'REDS' MIGHT EXILE POPE BLASTS HOPE IN SIBERIAN WASTE OF 'CHURCH UNION'
Berlin, January 10.—(United News.)—Shorn of their power and removed from the executive chairs of the government they helped mold, 52 leaders of the soviet union opposition party have been thrown into the dark abyss of defeat—exile in remote parts of the Russian wilderness.

They will remain in Siberia and other places, hundreds of miles from civilization, for three years, receiving a government pension of nine rubles a month. They will be exposed to disease—cholera and other plagues—and many of them undoubtedly never will come back. Leon Trotsky, who was present at the birth of the soviet government on November 7, 1917, who knew the cheers of millions, who was the right-hand man of Nikolai Lenin, the emboldened soviet idol, is among those banished.

But the militant former commissar of war still is in Moscow, protesting vehemently against being sent to cold Astrakhan. He asserts he is of more use to the soviet union in Moscow, but Joseph V. Stalin, secretary of the soviet central executive committee and iron dictator of 140,000,000 people, says he must go.

Several already have been exiled. The United News learned today. Men—names to come with in the first of the exile—were of various ages, some of them fathers of families, some of them the pains of birth of the communist state, who worked day in and day out for world revolution, for pure communism, for freedom of the masses from the yoke of plutocratic oppression, were crushed under the heavy heel of the ruthless Stalin.

It was a cruel blow to the circles here that banishment came after Stalin had won over the secret service, known as the "Ozka." The latter insisted upon imprisonment of more ruthless measures. But Stalin, the Georgian, knew what banishment meant and said, magnanimously, that exile was sufficient—exile with its rigors, hardships and broken bodies and spirits.

Trotsky Seeks Order.
The Stalin administration sentenced Trotsky to go government work in Astrakhan, Trotsky, fiery, militant, courageous, refused, asserting he could be more useful in Moscow. If sent to Astrakhan, he said, he would resist, forcibly.

Stalin and Trotsky, the two outstanding personalities of sovietism, may yet have another battle, more anonymous, more fierce than any in which they have yet engaged.

The immediate cause of banishment was provided by incidents in the factories of the Moscow and Bogotinsk districts. Workers refused to renew their collective agreements with the state management, after insisting upon better conditions.

For three years this opposition has made itself felt. Trotsky, Gregory Zinoviev, Christian Rakovsky, Leon B. Radek, M. Shkligin, M. Piatokoff, tumbled to defeat as Stalin rose to victory. They were shorn of their official positions and finally ejected from the communist party. Trotsky has a membership of 1,200,000.

There could be no other defeat, except exile or death.

The exile order appear to be the last crushing blow to the oppositionists. What may happen if those banished refuse to go to the outposts of a cold dreary northland cannot be predicted.

MCCRACKEN URGES AIR DEVELOPMENT FOR NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, January 10.—(AP)—Urging New Orleans to get down to business if the city desires to get in on the ground floor of air mail development with Mexico and Latin America, William P. McCracken, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce, said here today that the survey for the New York-Atlanta mail route would be completed in the spring.

This will automatically open the New Orleans-Atlanta route and he planned to make the survey and install guide lights between the two southern cities at the same time, the assistant secretary said. Texas has a six months' start on New Orleans, Mr. McCracken asserted, with elaborate plans for the air mail route to Mexico City.

Lectures Tonight.

NO. DAKOTA WILL VOTE ON LOWDEN AT ITS PRIMARY
Bismarck, N. D., January 10.—(AP)—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, will be entered in the North Dakota republican presidential primary in March, said a telegram received here today from Lowden headquarters in Chicago.

The telegram, sent by Clarence S. Buck, manager of the Chicago headquarters, to the Bismarck Tribune, said:

"The name of Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, will be entered in the North Dakota republican primary."

In view of Mr. Buck's telegram, Lowden adherents here look for an early definite announcement by the former Illinois governor, who has made no statement committing himself to the candidacy.

Presidential nominating petitions must be filed by the first of March in North Dakota.

STUDY OF 'VALVES' 'Jack-in-Box' Safety Device DELAYS S-4 DIVERS Georgia Suggestion for Subs

Provincetown, Mass., January 10.—(AP)—Operations of the salvage fleet engaged in the work of raising the sunken submarine S-4 today were confined to overhauling and repairing equipment and to a careful study of the similar valve arrangement of the submersible's sister ship, S-6.

This limitation of the day's activity was made necessary because of the rough weather that made diving operations impossible. Tonight prospects are not promising for favorable diving conditions tomorrow.

DIVERS RISKED LIVES, WITNESS SAYS.
Boston, January 10.—(United News.)—An expert in the handling of divers told the naval court of inquiry today that diving during the three days following the collision which sent the submarine S-4 to the bottom with 40 lives was extremely dangerous and virtually suicidal.

Lieutenant C. J. Flotte, M. D., a specialist in the treatment of divers' ailments, told the court at Charlestown navy yard that diving conditions were "almost impossible" until Wednesday morning, the fourth day after the disaster. Flotte's testimony confirmed the testimony given the court by Lieutenant Commander Edward J. Reeg, last Friday.

The medical officer was one of six witnesses before the court today, the others being officers and crew of the submarine destroyer Paulding, which rammed the S-4 on the afternoon of December 17.

Other Witnesses Called.
Other witnesses were Charles E. Reeg, chief quartermaster; James C. Millazzo, helmsman; Ensign James A. Tyler and H. C. Coffey, chief machinists mate, all of the Paulding.

The Paulding witnesses described details of the collision as they observed it. Reeg, Reigans and Millazzo were present at the collision. Flotte's testimony was largely a repetition of the account given by Lieutenant Commander John S. Baylis on Saturday morning.

Tyler and Coffey testified concerning the reversal of the Paulding's engines prior to the impact.

Future Greatness Of South America Told by Lecturer

"The United States must realize the importance of South America in the future more than it has in the past," is the opinion of Harold Rollo Tomlinson, lecturer and speaker at Emory university Tuesday evening. The lecture was given in the university auditorium to a mixed audience of students and faculty of Emory and Georgia Tech. Bowden Palmer, president of the Emory student lecture association, introduced the speaker.

"Europe, I believe, has reached its zenith and is now living on the energy created in the past. This is not saying anything against Europe, for it has a brilliant past and a magnificent civilization. But the progress of the future is in the western hemisphere."

Mr. Tomlinson condemned the type of representation sent to Latin American countries in the past by the United States. He terms the "lot of deservings democrats and lame republicans" who are sent to the political party in office.

The speaker sought to dispel the current ideas of Americans as to the economic conditions that comprise the political party in office.

He goes from Emory to the Pan-American congress in Havana, Cuba, and thence to South America for more study.

HOUSE KILLS BILL FOR CLOSE GUARD ON IMMIGRATION

Washington, January 10.—(United News.)—By a vote of 83 to 72, the house today defeated the proposed appropriation of $500,000 to provide more adequate immigration inspection.

Chairman Johnson, of the house immigration committee, sponsored the measure.

Eight jurors have been sworn and two more have been tentatively chosen.

VALDOSTA SALESMAN HAS UNIQUE PLAN
Valdosta, January 10.—(AP)—Working on a principle suggested by the "jack-in-the-box" toy of childhood, Davis S. Bell, Valdosta traveling man, has devised a plan which he believes will be of vast benefit in saving the lives of men imprisoned in sunken submarines.

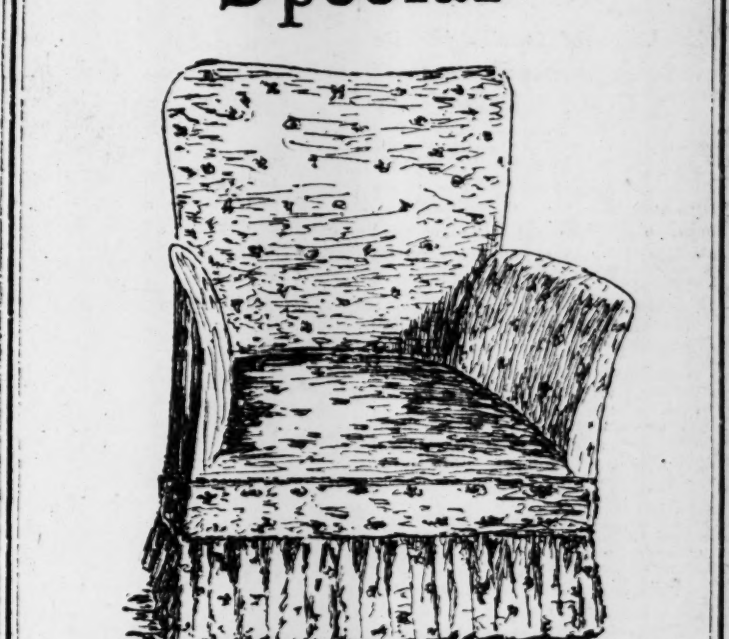

Shortly after the sinking of the submarine S-4 off the coast of Massachusetts, is said, Mr. Bell conceived the idea and immediately telegraphed his plan to Senator Walter George. Provided the navy department would furnish a draughtsman to work out the details, Mr. Bell agreed to present the idea to his country's front of charge.

Roughly outlined, Mr. Bell's idea is to attach to the top, bottom and sides of submarines a number of coils, so arranged that when the vessel sinks and cannot come back to the surface, persons in any of the compartments may release a coil and force it to the surface by means of compressed air from the submarine. The coils are to be made long enough to rise of itself, stopping when the surface is reached.

19 YALE STUDENTS NABBED IN UNION'S OPEN SHOP FIGHT
New Haven, Conn., January 10.—(AP)—Charged with illegal distribution of handbills, in violation of a city ordinance, 19 Yale students were arrested here tonight as they attempted to pass out pamphlets among striking employees of two neckwear manufacturing firms.

The pamphlets, signed by three Yale students, oppose the open shop ruling that brought two neckwear manufacturers here from New York City. The students sought a closer shop bargain with the United Neckwear Makers union. The pamphlets were said to be part of an effort on the part of the students to prevent the manufacturers here from establishing an open shop.

Progressive Club, A. A. C. Clash Tonight on J. P. C. Court

Bean Coached Five Holds Edge on J's

Hard-Fought Game Expected When Two Clash in First Meeting of Season.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

The expression "clash" has a literal and a figurative meaning. Tonight at the Progressive club the literal meaning is quite likely to be exemplified when the A. A. C. and Jewish Progressive clubs meet on the court for the first time in 1928.

It is not entirely probable that there will be any clubbing in the literal sense of the word but there certainly will be no clubbing in the figurative sense when these two ancient rivals lock centers and gaffe guards in the first of their annual battles. Just at the present writing the A. A. C. seems to have the advantage in that it has a coach who has been coaching for some time. The two former Bean teams get together. Joe Bean, the little Napoleon of the basketball court, has given over his reins at the J. P. C. to Monk Dorfan, former center of the Hebrew outfit, but Coach Joe still manages the down-town clubbers.

A. A. C. Undeclared. Thus far in the infant season of 1928 the A. A. C. has not been defeated and has won from Tech and Oglethorpe but the record of the Jewish club is blemished only by two defeats at the hands of Furman and Albany "Y."

Last season the Athletic club took both games of the series but sagged the one at J. P. C. by a close margin. In both games last year Coach Bean stayed off the court during the contests but this season he will be on hand to send his clubbers against his old pupils.

Though Coach Joe is not tutoring the J. P. C. team this year it will attack the A. A. C. with the Bean system for Monk Dorfan worked some time under the instruction of the little master and he is still teaching

Heeney Takes It Easy As Bout Draws Near

Says He Does Not Want To Go Stale—Sharkey Ends Heavy Work for Friday Night Fight.

BY FRANK GETTY.

New York, January 10.—(United News.)—Besides looming as one of the strongest contenders for the heavyweight championship, Tom Heeney, of New Zealand, today stamped himself as one of the most phlegmatic.

Heeney disturbed those who are backing him to defeat Jack Sharkey, of Boston, in Friday night's elimination bout by suddenly deciding that he would do no training this afternoon.

Wintringer Winner Of N. C. Tournament

Pinehurst, N. C., January 10.—(AP)

Robert L. Wintringer, of Stuyvesant, Ohio, who won the season members tournament here a short time ago, added to his trophies the mid-January tournament today with a 10-stroke lead. His 38-36-74 score made over the championship course was followed by E. W. Fowler, of Englewood, who had an 84; George Reid, of Greenwich, Conn., 88; J. J. Hunter, of North Adams, Mass., 88; F. J. Ross, of Hudson River club, New York, 89; Winthrop Williams, of Pinehurst, 90; J. L. Waller, of Hamilton, Ont., 90; and George A. Law, Jr., of Boston, 92.

much the same system to the Pryor street gang.

J. P. C. Plays Six Games.

In their victories over Tech and Oglethorpe the Athletic club team looked impressive but neither the Jacks nor Petrels showed anything like championship form. The Pryor street bunch has six games behind it while A. A. C. has but two.

The great strength of the down-town club seems to lie in its reserves. Coach Bean can throw two separate teams on the court without showing any marked weakness. There are several deadly basket shooters on the squad and their floor work has been improving with each game. They are not mean, however, that they will have any cinch with the J. P. C.

Archery Champions Bow to Glenna Collett and Partner

Pinehurst, N. C., January 10.—(AP)

Archers tried their skill at shooting over a golf course here today and he matching shots with Glenna Collett, former holder of the national woman's golfing title, and Richard Tufts, Pinehurst golfer, won a victory by one up. Mrs. Phillip Rounseville, Metropolitan and Women's North Carolina champion, and her husband, Philip Rounseville, represented the archers in the two sport contest, held over the No. 1 course, measuring 5,910 yards. They shot at four-inch targets placed on the greens.

The scoring system of best ball and aggregate counting was adopted. The archers were penalized a stroke when their shafts landed in the rough or in a trap.

Pro Joins "Dodo" Club.

St. Augustine, Fla., January 10.—(AP)—Bill Wadellon, of Potsdam, N. Y., assistant golf professional here, scored the first hole in one of the local season today on the 170-yard number five green. He was playing in a threesome with Vic Oberheimer, clubmaker, and Jimmy Farrell, brother of Johnny Farrell, the Quaker Ridge, N. J. professional.

Heeney Undisturbed.

While Jack Sharkey is fussing about a lawsuit in Boston and changing his mind a dozen times a day without making the trip to New York, Tom goes his quiet way, undisturbed by impending events.

Heeney thus displays some of the qualities to which Gene Tunney attributes his own success in the ring. "Many a fighter uses up his energy worrying about a fight before it takes place," said the champion.

Sharkey, who is to come here tomorrow night, has none of Tunney's nerve control, nor Heeney's poise. The Boston boxer has been worrying for several days about making the trip to New York. He feared he would have to travel at night and that this would upset him.

It is a comparatively small matter, but Sharkey must submit to a special physical examination when he arrives here. A certain suspicion in the public mind that the Lithuanian is not entirely fit necessitates this.

Of course, if Sharkey is in first-class shape, as his manager, Johnny Buckley, reports, Jack should not be disturbed by a physical examination. But little things like that have been known to upset the spirits of better men than Sharkey.

Nothing upsets Heeney. It seems between chews of gum, the New Zealander talks slowly, frankly and deliberately about himself and his chances.

"I feel fine," says Tom, "and thank you."

SHARKEY ENDS TRAINING GRIND. Boston, January 10.—(United News.)—Jack Sharkey wound up his training today for Friday night's bout with Tom Heeney, New Zealander heavyweight, with 10 fast rounds against Tom Kirby, sparring partner.

"I never felt better in my life," the Boston boxer, told the United News tonight. "I'll be delayed in court tomorrow morning, but I expect to take the 5 o'clock for New York."

Sharkey was to have left here this afternoon, but at the last minute was called as witness at hearing of an automobile accident case in Cambridge tomorrow morning.

GRINER CASE IS REOPENED BY OFFICIALS

Chicago, January 10.—(AP)—The board of directors of the minor leagues waded through a sheet of complaints and disputes today, and finally voted to reopen the case against J. F. Griner, president of the Jacksonville club of the Southeastern league. At the Dallas convention last month, Griner was fined a total of $1,530 for various charges in connection with the inter-league series last fall between Jacksonville and Greenville.

He was charged among other things with trying to get gate receipts, permitting gambling on the games, insubordination toward the board in charge of the series. The Dallas convention found him guilty. Today Griner presented numerous affidavits and records in his defense, and Commissioner Landis dropped in on the session long enough to give Griner a vigorous lecture on baseball ethics.

Given Another Hearing. Another hearing will be given Griner on the charges at some future date, the directors indicated.

Former Members Restored to A.O.A.

New York, January 10.—(AP)—Sport organizations which withdrew from the American Olympic association a year ago after a dispute concerning control of the Olympic body were restored to membership at a meeting of the executive committee of the Olympic association today. They were the National Collegiate Athletics association, the National Amateur Federation, the Western Conference and the Y. M. C. A.

At recent meetings of the N. C. A. A. and the N. A. F. A. action was taken to return to the Olympic fold. On motion of Major General Douglas MacArthur, president of the Olympic association, the committee voted to re-instate the organization without discussion.

Tiger Outfield Given Strength by Trades

Moriarty Believes He Has Trio That Will Stack Up With American League's Best—Must Prove It.

Detroit, January 10.—(AP)—George Moriarty, former major league umpire, ball player and now manager of the Detroit Tigers, shuffled the cards during the winter big league holidays and dealt the St. Louis Americans a pair of aces. He has yet to prove to critical Detroit fans the wisdom of the play which sent two favorites, Lu Blue, first baseman, and Heinie Manush, outfielder, to the Browns, that he might strengthen an outfield to support his pitchers.

But with the acquisition of Harry Rice, outfielder, brought in on the trade that sent Blue and Manush southward, Moriarty believes he has created an outfield that will both hit and field. He is certain Rice will hit better than 300, lead the majors in stealing bases and speed up the outfield. Throughout the playing season of 1927 there were rumors of complaints from Tiger pitchers that they were not receiving the proper support needed in the far corners. With Rice, Harry Heilmann, leading batter of the majors, and Bob "Rhino" Fothergill, Moriarty believes he can present a trio of hitters that will cause opposing pitchers untold agony.

Others Lost in Shuffle. The winter shuffle also sent away Johnny Bassler, veteran catcher and a favorite of the pitching staff; "Rip" Collins and Donald Hankins. In return the Tigers received Elam Vangilder, veteran pitcher of the Browns; Red Hargrave, former catcher of the Toronto club of the International league, and "Chick" Galloway, lithe erratic shortstop of the Philadelphia Athletics. Galloway is slated for a shortstop position in the event little Jack Tavener is kept out of the game with an injured hand that obstinately refuses to heal.

At third base Warner is left to carry the burden assisted by the versatile Marty McMann, the Tigers' utility man of the infield.

Neun Good Base Stealer. Johnny Neun, who succeeded Lu Blue at first base last season, is considered one of the most successful base stealers in the American league. A large part of Moriarty's strategy has been centered upon the ability of his men to steal bases. Even the lumbering Heilmann proved proficient as the art for a time last year. With Neun, Rice, Charley Gehring and Tavener—if he plays—Detroit anticipates a season punctuated with daring dashes around the base lines reminiscent of the palmiest days of Ty Cobb.

TEX RICKARD MAKES ANNUAL FIGHT RANKING

New York, January 10.—(United News.)—Tex Rickard has made his annual ranking of boxers in all divisions based upon their performances in 1927. The promoter's selections appear in a copyright article in the current number of The Ring, an international boxing magazine.

Despite Rickard's well-known fondness for foreign fighters as gate attractions, they receive scant consideration in the promoter's selections. Above the bantamweight division only one foreigner, Hilario Martinez, Spanish welterweight, receives a distinctive rating.

The following lead in their respective classes: Gene Tunney, heavyweight; Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight; Mickey Walker, middleweight; Joe Dundee, welterweight; Ruby Goldstein, junior welterweight; Sammy Mandell, lightweight; Tod Morgan, junior lightweight; Tony Canzoneri, featherweight; Bud Taylor, bantamweight; Izzy Schwartz, flyweight.

With one exception, in the junior welterweight division, Rickard has named the present champions.

Exactly eight days, preceding the advent of the lenten season, Atlanta society will dance and dine at brilliant Valentine balls at the various social clubs Tuesday evening, February 14. These dances follow a custom of many years' standing and continue to be the balls par excellence. Several hundred members of fashionable society will attend the Valentine ball at the Piedmont Driving club February 14, which will bring the winter's social program at this exclusive club to a brilliant climax. The East Lake Country club will observe the romantic day with an elaborate dinner-dance, which a large number of the membership of this popular club are anticipating.

Other social clubs and organizations are making plans for Valentine parties, the definite arrangements to be announced later.

Prominent Women Will Act As Hostesses at Art Exhibit

A group of prominent Atlanta women, deeply interested in art, met for luncheon Tuesday in a private dining room at Davidson-Paxon company, to formulate plans for the art exhibition of over 300 paintings by native-born Georgia artists. These pictures will be hung in the art gallery on the sixth floor of the building and opened to the public Monday morning, January 16, at 9 o'clock.

The following women, divided into groups of three, will serve daily as hostesses, including Mesdames William H. The purpose and aim of this exhibition is to concentrate attention upon the artistic talent of Georgia, and follows the lead of great department stores in spreading general appreciation of things artistic, and planting the fundamental principles of good taste. The exhibition will continue ten days, and provide a means for the public to view without any cost whatsoever, an opportunity to learn at first hand the high quality of the work being accomplished by Georgians. It will also build up and encourage a patronage for paintings done by these artists.

Seven Classifications.

The exhibits will be divided into seven general classifications, as follows: Original oil, water color or pastel paintings; etchings and drawings in black and white; sculpture (not over 30 inches high); original designs in textiles, rugs, tapestries, book plates and architecture and block prints; hand weaving from original designs; feather fans; wood carving and inlay and pottery.

To Exchange Old Minutes for New Efficiency

The progress of mankind has been at one with the gradual conquest of enthralling hours. The ox-cart, laboriously covering a few miles in almost as many hours, gave way to the horse and wagon, now long supplanted. The ancient criterion of man's industry was his willingness to work from sun to sun. But this old ideal has been exchanged for a creed advocating freedom for harmonious living achieved through

Time for Fuller Living

Our revised schedule will save approximately 150 hours, the equivalent of almost 20 working days of 8 hours each. To our salespeople, direct assets will be opportunities for fuller personal living. They will consequently bring to their work increased freshness, vigor, and capability—the fruits of purposefully-directed efforts which will meet the

THREE IMPROVING AFTER TRAIN-AUTO CROSSING C R A S H

Three persons who were injured early Monday night when a freight train on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast Line railroad struck the automobile in which they were riding at Jefferson street crossing, Tuesday were resting easily at their homes.

Those injured were W. L. Grier, driver of the machine, of 578 Spring street, his wife and daughter, Miss Ethel Grier.

Mr. Grier received a broken ankle, while his wife and daughter were severely shaken up and bruised. The machine was practically demolished. The injured were taken to Davis-Fischer hospital where medical aid was rendered.

The freight train was being pulled by a switching engine and was backing up to the crossing at a speed of approximately five miles per hour, when Mr. Grier's car crossed the tracks directly in the train's path, according to a report filed by Patrolman S. C. Johnson.

Mr. Grier said Tuesday that he was under the impression that the train was on another track and that he failed to hear its approach, although members of the crew declare that they shouted warnings when they saw the oncoming automobile.

Sam Williams, 25, dairyman, of 14 Fair street, S. W., was treated at Grady emergency clinic Tuesday for a wound on the head said to have been inflicted by a blow with a piece of iron. Details of the injury were not given to hospital attendants.

Wiley Mitchell, 18, plumber, of 716 Hazle street, received a fracture of the forearm when a pipe fell on his right arm Tuesday.

ATLANTA BANKS GAIN 13.5 MILLION IN DEPOSITS

With a gain in deposits of approximately $13,000,000 over the corresponding period of last year, financial reports to annual stockholders and directors' meetings of four of Atlanta's largest banks found those institutions in highly gratifying condition.

Bank holding meetings were the Citizens & Southern National, Fourth National, Atlanta & Lowry National and Fulton National, with the stockholders and directors.

All officers and directors of the four institutions were reelected for another year's service.

Increase in deposits of $4,324,697.13 was shown by the Atlanta & Lowry National bank, while the Fourth National bank showed a gain in deposits of $3,741,137.88.

Reports of the Citizens & Southern National showed an increase in deposits of $3,648,936.33 and the Fulton National registered a gain of $128,291.68.

Directors of the Fulton National voted to increase the capital stock of the bank from $750,000 to $1,000,000, through the issuance of 2,500 additional shares. This will increase the surplus of the institution approximately $75,000.

Dividend of 7 per cent was declared Tuesday by the First Mutual Savings association, making a total of more than $10,000 this company has paid out to bring out the community.

All officers were reelected.

Two Tire Thefts Thought Solved By Man's Arrest

Arrest Tuesday of Fred G. Tribble, 22, of 550 Washington street, on a charge of larceny, was thought by Detective Lieutenant T. D. Shaw to be the solution of two automobile tire thefts Monday and Tuesday, in which the tires removed from the car and stripped it of its tires.

According to Lieutenant Shaw, Tribble was arrested at a Decatur street junk shop in the act of selling tires which, the detective said, had been taken from the automobile of W. S. Davis, 731 Glenn street, after the machine had been stolen.

Lieutenant Shaw said he received a telephone call Tuesday to the effect that a man had just finished removing tires from an automobile in front of the entrance to Oakland cemetery.

The previous day, stolen tires had been recovered from the Decatur street junk shop, and so Lieutenant Shaw, who is in charge of the investigation, was alerted to the shop and was alerted to have arrested Tribble in the act of selling the tires.

The car was recovered as well as the tires.

LEAP FROM GRADY HOSPITAL WINDOW FATAL TO NEGRO

Leaping from a third-story window of Grady hospital, where he was confined from Fulton county prison on a complaint of illness, George Matthews, negro, of East Point, Tuesday suffered injuries which caused his death several hours later.

The negro's skull was fractured in the fall and numerous bones broken. Matthews was arrested recently on charges of stealing a car. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of David T. Howard & Son.

Members of Atlanta Rotary entertained sons of Rotarians, who are attending colleges in Atlanta, at the regular meeting Tuesday in the Capital City club.

A special feature was the musical program furnished by Al Short, musical director and master of ceremonies at the Howard theater. The meeting was presided over by President Robert L. Foreman.

APARTMENT HOUSE DEAL CONTROVERSY MUST GO TO COURT

Litigation over the exchange of the Carlton apartments, on Peachtree street, for the Peachtree court apartments, located on the same street, must be tried on its merits in the Fulton superior court, according to a decision handed down in the case Tuesday by the supreme court.

In the decision the supreme court reversed a decision of the Fulton superior court which dismissed the case, on a demurrer which contended that the terms of the contract were too vague and indefinite. In this case, Mrs. Julia M. Muller brought suit against George W. Cooper, asking the specific performance of the sale contract and also for damages in the sum of $150,000.

The contract, which was dated December 6, 1926, provided for the purchase of the Carlton apartments by Mrs. Muller, who was to exchange the same for the Peachtree court, which is a 12-story building at 591 Peachtree street. Following a disagreement concerning the exchange, the case was carried to the Fulton superior court and thence to the supreme court, which ruled Tuesday that the questions involved should be adjudicated in the courts.

EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS VISITOR FROM TOLEDO

A. H. Lang, of Toledo, Ohio, gave an impromptu talk Tuesday before members of the Atlanta Exchange club at the regular meeting in the Henry Grady hotel.

The meeting was given over largely to an executive session, at which was discussed the 1928 program of the club for benevolent community work.

The members confirmed their recent decision to sponsor the Georgia Orphan's home and to undertake installation of a new heating plant for the institute at the expense of the club. The meeting was presided over by President William E. Arnold.

Housewife Urged To Buy Products Grown in Georgia

Now that special attention is being directed to an effort to consume more Georgia products, the housewife is urged to give her personal attention to the purchase of products grown about her head, though they be bought on her own table, by the state bureau of markets in a statement to the public.

"Too frequently," the statement said, "the consumer has all good will toward Georgia's products but fails to note the source of the supplies for her daily menu."

"The grocer is always anxious to please. He will carry just the articles, put up in just the way the buyer demands. If the housewife insist on his carrying a supply of Georgia products put up in the right way he, in turn, will get this information over to the Georgia producer."

The bureau of markets has announced that the magazine "Georgia," published by the Georgia association, will soon appear in a special "marketing" edition, in which the combined efforts of the department of agriculture and its branches, as well as other state agencies, will be represented.

Photographs have been made of various Georgia farm products, showing correct and incorrect methods of grading and packing, the pictures so arranged as to bring out the contrast. These, it was stated, will appear in the special edition.

RENT-FREE FARM.

Commerce Man Offers Large Tract to Reliable Tenant.

An offer to rent free of charge for the year 1928, to any reliable tenant or tenants, a three-horse farm without live stock and supplies, is contained in a letter received by the commissioner of agriculture from R. L. Smith, of Commerce, Ga. The department was asked to bring the matter to the attention of some interested farmer.

Attaches of the department explained that the request was similar to another received some time ago from the same source, and that the department had already assisted in placing several of Mr. Smith's farms in the hands of tenants on terms rent-free for one year.

H. O. Mitchell, secretary and treasurer of the United States department of foreign and domestic commerce, addressed members of the American Business club at their regular Tuesday luncheon, in the Henry Grady hotel, on the topic of business possibilities and trade with Latin America. In his talk he also discussed the effects of Lindbergh's good-will flight to Central America.

JACK WOOD INDICTED IN DEATH OF WIFE

Indictment charging murder to Jack Wood, who has been held here without bond since the death of his wife, Mrs. Della Wood, was returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury. Mrs. Wood died of mysterious injuries about the head, though to have been inflicted with a hammer.

Several weeks ago the injured woman was removed from a downtown hotel to Grady hospital where she died without regaining consciousness. Wood told investigators she had been injured in an automobile accident. This version, however, was doubted after the finding of a blood-stained hammer near an automobile which Wood is alleged to have abandoned on the Roswell road.

BILLIARD AND POOL TAX LAW ENJOINED BY LOCAL PARLORS

A temporary restraining order against collection of the new state tax of $100 a table on billiard and pool establishments was issued Tuesday by Judge E. E. Pomeroy on petition of R. E. Church, attorney for the Pastime, Walton and Belmont Hotel Billiard parlors, and Hugh H. Pierce and T. C. Oakes.

W. S. Richardson, Fulton county tax collector, issued the order, prohibiting from making levies under the new law pending a hearing set for February 15. The petition further asks that officers be restrained from enforcement of certain regulatory laws passed by the 1925 assembly.

UNIQUE PLEA FAILS TO SAVE BURGLAR

Despite a plea that he was a "transient, psychopathic" individual, W. D. Hudgins in Fulton superior court Tuesday, the defendant was sentenced to 12 months on the state farm at Milledgeville after he had admitted he was guilty of burglary. Hudgins was indicted for entering the store of A. Wolfe, 60 North Pryor street.

Does your daughter attend school regularly?

MANY GIRLS are absent from school for a few days each month because of illness. In many cases this is unnecessary because young girls—as well as older women—can be strengthened by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Girls suffering from run-down condition, sleeplessness, nervousness, and loss of appetite, should gain new strength and vigor from this Vegetable Compound.

The following testimonials show what the Compound has done for other schoolgirls.

NERVOUS AND DIZZY

Charleston, Illinois:—"I gave my fifteen-year-old girl Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she has a wonderful lot of good. She was nervous, weak and dizzy. At last she was so good that she was out of school for four months. The Vegetable Compound has improved her in every way and she has gone back to school. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be." Mrs. Alice Louthan, Route 2, Charleston, Illinois.

SICK AND WEAK

Camden, New Jersey:—"When my daughter was twelve years old she was hurt at the playground. She was sick and weak for some time after that and was not able to go to school regularly. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped her wonderfully, and she now goes to school every day. She has gained in weight and has a better appetite than she had before taking it." Girl Implicates 'The Fox' In Third Coast Murder

HICKMAN FLEES FROM STATE ALIENISTS

Los Angeles, January 10.—(AP)—The shadow of suspicion for possible complicity in a third murder today was thrust over William E. Hickman, the confessed slayer of Marian Parker and an admitted accomplice in the killing of C. Ivy Thoms, a druggist.

While alienists examined the youthful kidnaper in his jail cell, a girl witness electrified courtiers when three men are on trial for murder by declaring the robber she saw kill a store proprietor looked more like Hickman than Harvey Lesher, one of the three defendants.

Girl Witnessed Robbery. Roberta Scriver, the witness, was present when the three robbers entered a drug store on November 1, last, and killed A. V. Miles, the proprietor. Lesher and two companions, William Rolan and Mike Garvey, are accused of murder.

On cross-examination by defense counsel, Miss Scriver said although she had identified Lesher from a police photograph as one of the robbers, she now felt that the man wielding the gun in the robbery looked more like Hickman. Attorneys for Lesher immediately began rearranging his defense.

In the county jail guards reported that Hickman, his face ashen gray and his eyes wide with fear, fled precipitately from a room where three psychiatrists were examining him, to the door of his cell. There he covered until the steel gate was opened and he rushed inside.

What had caused Hickman to become so frightened was not revealed, and the three alienists declined to comment on their findings. They planned to question him again.

Jailers said they understood the three mental experts wanted Hickman to take the "lie" test, in which a machine registers emotional vibrations. This he refused to do, and was not compelled to submit to this.

Hickman's attorney, Jerome Walsh, is in Kansas City, the prisoner's home town, gathering evidence to support his defense. The sanity hearing January 25, Hickman pleaded "not guilty" by reason of insanity to the indictment charging him with the murder of Marian Parker.

"THE FOX'S" ACCOMPLICE PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Los Angeles, January 10.—(AP)—Pleading not guilty to a murder indictment for the death of C. Ivy Thoms, a druggist, 16-year-old Welby Hunt today took the first step in his fight for freedom that is eventually expected to bring him to his former pal, William E. Hickman.

Hunt's plea, entered in superior court, tended to confirm his attorney's plans to have the boy client be a state's witness against Hickman when the latter's sanity trial begins January 25 in connection with his confessed slaying of Marian Parker. Authorities claim the bullet which mortally wounded Thoms was of the same calibre as the pistol carried by Hunt.

A. Gray Gilmer, attorney for Hunt, made a motion at the boy's arraignment that he be tried separately. District Attorney Asa Keyes asked for time, however, to prepare a counter motion and was given until Friday, when it was expected Superior Judge Carlos Hardy would rule on this point.

Prosecuting officials, who yesterday agreed to have Hunt tried in juvenile court, said the death penalty could not be asked for him because he is under the 18-year-age limit.

The trial of both Hickman and Hunt for the Thoms killing has been set for February 1.

WEST END—"Chang."

Keith's Georgia.

If you want a thrill don't fail to see Roy Cummings, one of the big attractions at Keith's Georgia this week. This chap simply does things that are impossible! The way he manhandles the curtain while doing his act is a sight to behold, and the falls he takes, would put most anyone in the hospital.

It's all done in fun but a bit too strenuous for the average person. The entire show is worth while this week and the feature picture, a Paramount.

shows Florence Vidor in a comedy role, "Honeymoon Hate."

Capitol.

Real entertainment is found in super-abundant quantities on the current stage and screen program at the Capitol theater, according to the unanimous verdict of audiences who have enjoyed this week's bill, which features on the screen Reginald Donny, a delightful comedy of prize fights and dancing masters. On the stage is featured the beautiful and gorgeously costumed revue, "Parisian Whirl."

Other excellent acts on the bill are "Snapshots," dancing act extraordinary; Edwards and Morris, comedy duo; Stanley Chapman in "Swissing the Swiss" an ditty Canary opera, talented bird songsters.

Loew's Grand.

Pleasing from start to finish is the verdict of Atlanta newspaper critics on the excellent show at Loew's Grand theater this week, which is headed by the famous four Diamonds, dancers. This is a fast and graceful dancing act of unusual merit. Oscar Stang and his orchestra also provide much of the best entertainment of the program. Other acts are Gordon and Brower in "Bug House Fables," Eddie Stanley and "Ginger," and the three Harpers. The picture is "West Point."

Rialto.

"The Warning." Jack Holt's starring melodrama, closes at the Rialto theater with final showings this afternoon and evening. "The Last Nose of Summer," which stars Al Cooke and Kit Guard, also closes, but this best of the movie comedy teams remain with the Rialto the rest of the week, for they are the stars in the feature-length comedy, "The Legionnaires in Paris," which will assume the top position on the Rialto program for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Metropolitan.

Unusually good audiences are giving "Night Life" a loud hand this week at the Metropolitan. Set in a picturesque background of a Vienna beer garden, the story tells of the adventures of two sleight-of-hand artists before and after the war. All goes well and prosperous with them until the advent of Anna, a charming young waif, bringing romance with her. Ben Turpin is also being shown in "Love's Languid Lure."

Howard.

For those patrons of the Howard theater who have not yet seen this week's attraction, a real treat is in store. This is Al Short's last week at the Public house. For his last performance he has gotten together some of the best talent available. The cast includes such notables as Chaz Chase, a comedian that will long be remembered by Atlanta theatergoers; George Lyons, in rendition of both classical and popular numbers on the Italian harp; and Parker and Lee, two fast steppers who stop the show. Paramount's "Beau Sabreur," by P. C. Wren, author of "Beau Geste," has been well received and succeeds in holding the fast pace set by Al Short and his boys.

Ponce de Leon.

Shirley Mason in "Sally of Our Alley" is the big screen feature playing today only at the Ponce de Leon theater. Marion Cora, delightful star of "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," will be featured at the Ponce de Leon Thursday and Friday in "Moon of Israel."

Tudor.

The oft-told tale of General Custer's last stand is shown on the screen today and tomorrow at the Tudor in the picture, "General Custer at Little Big Horn," a story of that famous last fight, of the events leading up to it, and a romance of daring and adventure worked into it. Roy Stewart has the leading male role.

Alamo No. 2.

"The Music Master," which plays at Alamo theater, No. 2, today is a revival of the old stage play which secured such a tremendous success 20 years ago. The story is of a lovable musician who left a brilliant career in Vienna to search 10 years for his wife, who left his home with another man, taking with her his baby daughter. The two big dramatic scenes are when he finds the daughter, and later when he comes face to face with the man who has betrayed him.

INCREASE IN TAX FOR ROAD BUILDING BARRED BY COURT

Additional tax levies for road building cannot be assessed by Georgia counties after the constitutional four-mill tax for this purpose has been imposed, according to a decision handed down by the court of appeals Tuesday. The decision was rendered in the case of Terrell county against the Central of Georgia railroad. The county attempted to levy an additional tax of 3 1/2 mills and the railroad declined to pay it, taking the case to the court. The Terrell superior court decided in favor of the county but the court of appeals reversed this ruling.

G.O.P. IN DAKOTA FORMS WET PARTY

Bismarck, N. D., January 10.—(AP)—North Dakota republicans who favor modification of the 18th amendment have effected an organization, adopted a platform and endorsed candidates for national and state offices.

Closing of "hundreds of banks in North Dakota" and "the driving of thousands of farmers into bankruptcy, due to destruction of the farmers' market for barley, corn, rye, oats and hops" were attributed in one resolution to prohibition laws. The meeting, held yesterday, advocated control of the liquor traffic by the government "for profit."

Another plank said the group stands "against the saloon and in favor of temperance."

The candidates and delegates endorsed will have their names on the republican ballots in the spring primary election, as will two other republican factions, the "regulars" and "non-partisans."

C. P. Stone, of Bismarck, one of the sponsors of the meeting, was endorsed as candidate for the United States senate.

PROHIBITION IS REAL ISSUE, SAYS MOORE.

Trenton, N. J., January 10.—(AP)—Governor A. Harry Moore in his annual message to the New Jersey legislature today asserted that prohibition, despite many attempts to sidetrack it as an issue, was in point of fact the most outstanding issue in the country today.

"I again recommend the repeal of the state enforcement act," he said, "and the submission to the people of the state of a real referendum which will permit them to express their views."

The governor told the legislators that New Jersey must keep abreast of its sister states in the matter of aviation, and that the matter of building adequate airport facilities was one that could not be "unduly postponed." He advocated empowering counties and municipalities to issue bonds for airport purposes.

The governor's message was transmitted to the legislature at the opening of its one hundred fifty-second session.

DRY AN MORAL IS VOTING DOWN.

Charleston, W. Va., January 10.—(AP)—Because its members thought there was not enough interest in the prohibition law among their congregations, the Charleston Ministerial association voted down a motion to hold a mass meeting in observance of the eighth anniversary of the passage of the eighteenth amendment on January 20.

Some of the ministers declared at a meeting of the association that they would not cooperate in observing the anniversary as a part of their services on the ground that prohibition is a controverted question of a political aspect, and that the pulpit was no place for its discussion.

STOCK SUBSCRIPTIONS CASE RULING WRITTEN

Persons subscribing for stock in a corporation that fails to secure its full amount of collectible subscriptions as specified in the contract offering the stock for sale are not legally bound by such contracts and are entitled to recovery on money already paid, it was held Tuesday by the state supreme court.

The ruling was handed down in the case of Felton versus the Highlands Hotel company, coming up from Bibb county superior court. The lower court, records showed, sustained a demurrer filed by the defendant, dismissing the case. Excepting to this judgment, the plaintiff appealed to the supreme court, which reversed the judgment.

Court records showed that A. C. Felton, Jr., had brought suit against the hotel company, seeking to have cancelled his contract for the purchase of certain stock of the corporation, and to recover a specified amount already paid thereon.

The supreme court held that "the plaintiff was entitled to recover if he established that the full subscription of $500,000 was not subscribed by persons from whom it could be collected, or if for any other reason the defendant had not secured the amount of collectible subscriptions specified in the defendant's subscription contract offering the stock for sale."

The court likewise stated that the defendant corporation had apparently offered stock subscriptions without full compliance with the Georgia securities act requiring "very complete and explicit information" on stock offered for sale.

In another case, O'Neal versus the Highlands company, the court Tuesday rendered a similar decision.

MONROE BAILEY FREED ON CHARGE OF KILLING NEGRO

Following a ten-hour trial in Judge E. D. Thomas' division of Fulton superior court, Monroe Bailey was freed Tuesday night on a murder charge growing out of the death of Willie Lockett, negro, by gunshot wounds on the night of October 9, last.

The fatal shooting, said to have followed a brief argument between Lockett and a white man whom the prosecution sought to identify as Bailey, occurred near the intersection of McDaniel and Peters streets.

A legal quirk developed during the trial which came near bringing it to the jury in record time. When the state rested after putting up three witnesses, the defense, represented by Attorneys William Schley Howard and H. A. Allen, waived its right to summon witnesses and proceeded with the argument.

On motion of the prosecution, Judge Thomas declared the hearing reopened and two additional witnesses were put up.

Craft, chief engineer of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, addressed members of the Atlanta Lions club at their regular meeting Tuesday in the Wineoff hotel, on the "Telephone Future" of Atlanta. Music for the entertainment program was furnished by J. Gordon Moore. President Joseph B. Wolfe had charge of the meeting.

MODERN FASHIONS

+ and the New Allen's

THIS store is young. Yet it has its traditions. The quickened tempo of the times, the mechanical progress and revolutionary thinking of the age, of which Allen's is a part, parcel and product, have accelerated the processes by which ideas are joined and associations formed. One of the traditions connected with this store is that of Beautiful Fashions. It grew up and clusters around the now legendary days of just twenty years ago!

In that remote period the Founder, versed in the lore of that fugitive muse, the silken, glad uncertain Lorelei of the mode, was proud personally to show Georgia's devotees of Beautiful Dress the newest quirk in leg-o-mutton sleeves or Poirer's latest trick in building coat or skirt.

The world has turned round since then; also it has been turned upside down. The war definitely marked an epoch and emancipated woman began to think for herself about clothes. Scrapped are the ideas of old, into dust-bin the chains of custom and the hobbles of restraint.

Yet, through all the vicissitudes of this topsy-turvy change the tradition of Allen Fashions held intact and absolute, a living, vibrant thing.

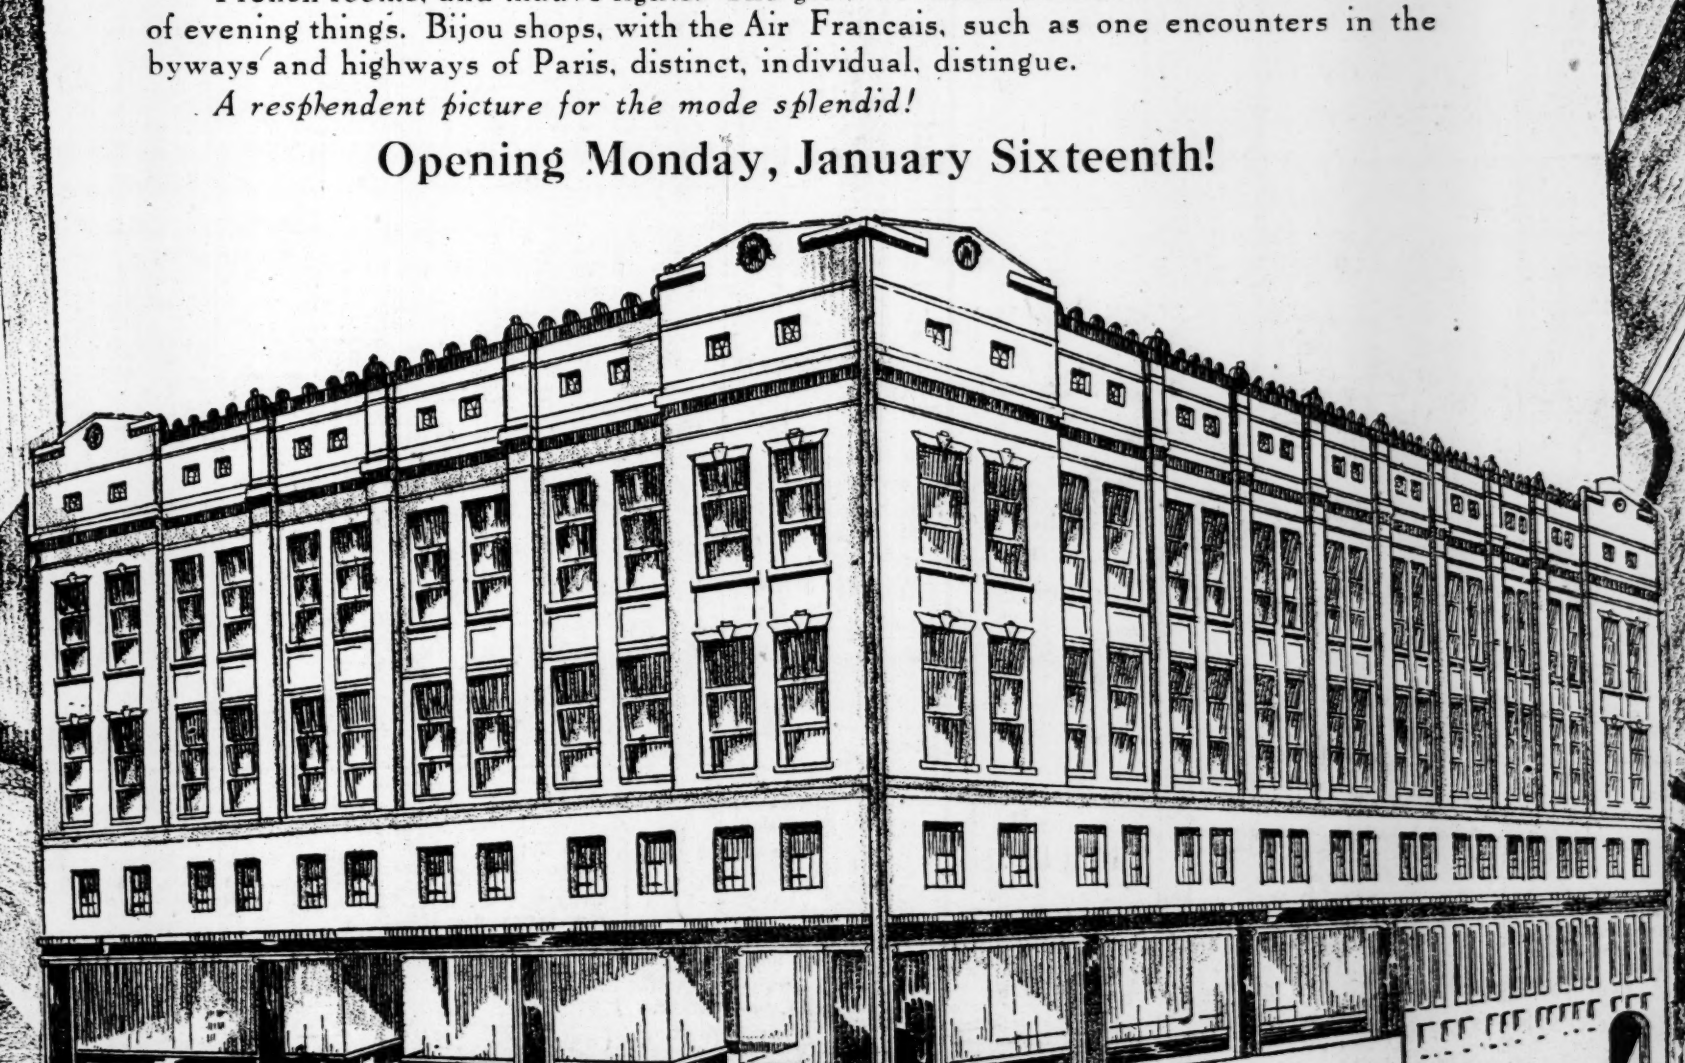

Allen Fashions are supreme! Vintage of the immediate moment, mintage of the very mode, coinage of chic. Theirs is the imprimatur of Paris and the authenticity of Fifth Avenue.

Such Fashions, by right of regnancy and might of eminence, merit the glamorous environment of this New Store. Artists have thought it all out. Artisans have executed their thoughts. The compelling power of beauty has driven them in a fine frenzy of creation.

French rooms, and mauve lights. The glow of incandescents for the iridescence of evening things. Bijou shops, with the Air Francais, such as one encounters in the byways and highways of Paris, distinct, individual, distingue.

A resplendent picture for the mode splendid!

Opening Monday, January Sixteenth!

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

SYNOPSIS.
John Arden, handsome young Londoner, meets, through an accident, lovely Esme Bermore, to whom he was able to render a slight but valuable service. He learns that the girl and her companion, Mrs. Sinclair, lately arrived in London from Argentina, were the first two persons to see Lord Farquhar alive. The old earl's sudden and mysterious death is announced to the world by the morning papers and Arden grows suspicious of Mrs. Sinclair when he learns that she is trying to keep their visit to the old earl secret and is covering Esme's late secrecy against her will. The police, however, learn the identity of the two women who visited Lord Farquhar just before his death. Mrs. Sinclair, fearing arrest or detection as a material witness, persuades Esme to accompany her to Paris. John Arden, whose interest in Esme has been aroused because he fears that she is under the influence of an unscrupulous creature, saves her from arrest by kidnapping her at the railroad station from behind Mrs. Sinclair's back. He takes her to the apartment of Andy Burke, one of his best friends, and Burke turns over his rooms and his housekeeper to her.

The friends put their heads together in Esme's behalf, but in the midst of their plotting Furieux of Scotland Yard joins them. Esme tells her story to the men and at the conclusion of it the detective agrees to help her.

Esme, who is the granddaughter of Lord Farquhar, had never seen the old man until just before his death. His father, only child of the earl, had quarreled with him in his youth, and gone out to Argentina, married, lived and died there. Her mother had died when she was very young. Mrs. Sinclair, a friend of the family, had been very kind to her after her father's death and had invited the lonely girl to live with her. There Esme met Juan de Braganza, a young Argentinian, who asked her to marry him. She refused him. Juan invited Esme for a ride one day and he took her out into the country and they enjoyed it as an innocent couple. Esme grew ill after drinking it, but maintains she never lost consciousness. She was asked to sign the inn's register, but she refused and demanded to be taken back to town.

Furieux tells her that Juan de Braganza claims she is his wife.

Esme decides to go back to Mrs. Sinclair and Furieux agrees to let her go. Mrs. Sinclair and Braganza, who has arrived in London, are placed under surveillance and complete protection is given Esme by the police.

John Arden follows Braganza to Paris at Furieux's suggestion and there the trail leads him to Lady Doone. Esme's great-aunt and sister of Lord Farquhar, who has lived abroad for fifteen years, is now in London. Esme's knowledge of him as her husband, but disliking his appearance she gives him very little encouragement. Arden, who the old lady completely when he tells her that he intends to run down Braganza's false claim and to marry Esme himself. He induces Lady Doone to come to England and place Esme under her care.

INSTALLMENT XLV.
AN INTRUSION.

Lady Doone could not hurry, so the procession moved slowly along the carpeted corridor. The waiter obeyed instructions exactly, and the manager's representative entered. Mrs. Forbes—she still clung to the alias, although the inquest had revealed her identity—was standing near the fireplace, seemingly white with anger. With her was Juan de Braganza, looking expectantly toward the doorway. He saw who was there, and hurried forward.

"Ah!" he cried, though a slight falsetto belied his cheerfulness. "I'm glad you have come up, Lady Doone. Although Mrs. Forbes is far from well, I have just been—"

His intervention stopped the hotel manager's effort to explain politely why he was intruding. But Lady Doone had eyes for neither of the men. She advanced in her leisurely, graceful way, and the merest gesture of a thin hand enjoined silence. She was looking at the other woman, and actually smiling, though the insolence in her eyes accounted, perhaps, for Mrs. Sinclair's pallor.

"So it really is you, Helena?" she said, in that faint, clear-toned voice of hers. "When I read your Christian name—I wondered. Now, I know! Where is my great-niece, Esme Bermore?"

"My wife is in that room, your ladyship," broke in de Braganza, pointing to a closed door.

He certainly was not lacking in impudence, but Lady Doone paid a much less heed to him as to a fly buzzing in the sunshine.

She turned to the alert hotelier, whose shrewd intelligence has missed no phase of this tense scene.

"Mrs. Forbes—what is the lady's surname?" she asked. "Does not answer. Do you think that Miss Bermore occupies that room? Will you oblige me by knocking?"

Now, Esme, the instant de Braganza was announced, had left the sitting room, locked herself in, and was seated near an open window overlooking the park. When someone tapped on her door she rose and said, without turning the key:

"Yes. What is it?"

"Lady Doone has called, Miss Bermore," came a voice which she recognized. She came out instantly. She had eyes for only one person present—the tall, thin, aristocratic and perfectly goaded elderly woman who was going at her intently. She tried to find words, but failed.

"Ah, my dear child," said the stranger, advancing with both hands held out in greeting. "I, at least, have not denied you. I am your aunt. You are my niece. I want to forget the intervening generation, and you, my find great-aunt rather impossible. I think I am here to bring you to your proper home in London. Can you come now? I am sure the hotel people will turn you packing. . . . Isn't that so?"

Still holding the tongue-tied girl's hands, she smiled most graciously at the astonished representative of the Park Palace hotel. But he was a model of discretion.

"Will your ladyship and Miss Bermore give me one minute?" he said. "I'll ring for a chambermaid, and if Miss Bermore will indicate what is to be forwarded there will be no further delay."

Mrs. Sinclair had literally collapsed into a chair. De Braganza gave her a malevolent look, evidently at a loss to understand why she had yielded so completely in a crisis which demanded rigid self-control. He, of course, was master of himself, and did not hesitate to address Lady Doone again.

"I really must ask your ladyship to listen," he said, facing her brazenly. "Mrs. Forbes, or Mrs. Sinclair, as she is known to all her friends in Buenos Aires, was unprepared for your visit. I assure you I was urging her not to send that foolish reply. Why should not look after Esme? It is your right—more than that, your duty. Was not that what I told you in Paris yesterday? You were not here because of what I said then? It is not fair to me, at least, that you should pretend to ignore me now considering that I was the first person within your family circle to point out that my wife needed your support and guidance at a most difficult moment in her life."

"I give you every credit for your good intentions, Senator," was the suave reply, and de Braganza could not know that a friendly pressure on Esme's arm alone halted the bitter disclaimer on the girl's lips. "My niece, whom you describe as your wife, is moved almost to tears by your devotion. Meanwhile, here comes the maid who will look after Miss Bermore's belongings. Need we wait longer?"

"I suppose your clothes are all in that room, Esme? Give me your arm, dear. I am 54 years older than you, and such an interval makes for a certain unsteadiness of limb if not of purpose. . . . Helena, I am going to Higher Nation tomorrow. You had better write to me, at least, that you women fail in the respect. We are apt to act, or write, or think afterwards. It is high time you, for one, reversed the process."

But Esme, incapable of treating with indifference the woman who had treated her with kindness when she most needed a woman's sympathy, ran to Mrs. Sinclair and clasped her shoulders.

"I don't know what is happening, dear," she murmured. "I'm sure I ought to go but you have been my friend, and will never cease to be anything else, I hope. Please do as Lady Doone says. When you feel equal to it write and tell her what is troubling you. Perhaps it may not be so bad as it seems. I have a belief that matters may come right if only you will accept my word against that of Juan de Braganza. I am not his wife. He did not marry me in Buenos Aires, as he pretends. His vile schemes will soon be laid bare, so your association with him can bring you nothing but harm. Send him away. Forbid him ever to see or speak to you again, and that will be the beginning of happiness!"

The mortal remains of the first earl of Farquhar were laid to rest with fitting but unpretentious ceremony. He was not, as might have been gathered from the outspoken comment of those who knew him, popular in the North Riding either as landlord or resident.

Among others who watched the passing of the funeral cortege, with sturdy "twain" farmers as "heavers" and some score of empty motor cars sent by neighbors, squares as a mark of respect—though their owners could be heard shouting grouse on the surrounding moors—was a quiet-looking man dressed in tweed. Half a dozen lies of the March brown and black coat varieties were twisted round his swarthy hat, thus modestly announcing as it were, that he was interested in trout and grayling, even at that late season.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—

The Big Guy Drops In.

You Can Win $2,000.00

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S "COW" FIGURE GAME

$2,000.00 First Prize — $1,000.00 Second Prize — $500.00 Third Prize

Twenty-five Cash Prizes in All—Amounting to $4,515.00

$500.00 Extra First Prize for Promptness

This is your opportunity to use your spare time to advantage. These big cash prizes are going to be given away to the lucky winner, and no one has a better chance than you if you will only make the proper effort. The object of the game is to see how much you can make the "COW" weigh by filling inside of the border representing the cow with figures "9's." Now isn't that simple?

How many times can you write by hand, using a lead pencil, the figure "9" inside the border forming the cow outline? The sum total of the number of the "9's" that you put in the cow picture will represent your answer or what you give as the weight of the cow. For example twenty "9's" will be 180 pounds; one hundred "9's" would be 900 pounds, etc. Can you write in one hundred "9's," two hundred, or how many? The person having the greatest number of "9's," that is, the largest sum total, will win first prize, second largest second prize, etc.

NOTE: While there are three cow pictures given in this announcement, only one cow picture is to be submitted with a solution.

This space must not be detached from the cow. I have written the figure "9" inside of the outer border representing the cow above _____ times, giving a grand sum total of _____ pounds.

(NOTE: Write your name and complete address plainly on the white margin in front of the cow.)

How Much Can You Make the "Cow" Weigh?

THAT'S THE PROBLEM!

TRY YOUR HAND AT IT BY WRITING THE FIGURE "9" AS MANY TIMES AS YOU CAN INSIDE THE BORDERLINE OF THE "COW."

When you have them all written in, add them. That will give you your answer to "How Much Can You Make the Cow Weigh." Every "9" stands for 9 pounds, and the total of "9's" you have written in the cow space is your weight record.

Begin now on the game by clipping out the "cow" picture and start with lead pencil to filling in with the figure "9." You will find it absorbing fun, and every "9" that you write in the "cow" figure takes you further on your way to the big cash prizes that are to be given.

Be sure that the "9's" do not touch each other, nor touch the border of the cow. You may have additional copies of the "cow" picture by writing to the Cow Contest Dept., enclosing a stamped return envelope. The extra copies, however, will be on the same grade of paper as this is printed on.

You have a chance to earn $35.00, $250.00, $1,000.00 or $2,000.00, as explained and shown in the Prize List, and $500.00 extra for promptness.

How to Win $2,000.00

It is not necessary to send a subscription, but by qualifying your entry into "How much can you make the cow weigh" game with one or two subscriptions, you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, the first prize is $35.00, but if winners of first prize has qualified with one six months' subscription, the prize will be $250.00 instead of $35.00. If qualified with one year's subscription the prize will be $1,000.00 instead of $35.00; or if qualified with two annual subscriptions the prize would be $2,000.00 instead of $35.00, and so on with proportional increases throughout the entire prize list. In all there are 25 prizes, as shown in this announcement.

$35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize (the person having the largest sum total in the cow picture) if no subscription is sent to the daily and Sunday Constitution.

$250.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal; second prize $200.00, third prize $100.00, etc. (See second column in prize list.)

$1,000.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one annual subscription, new or renewal, to the daily and Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50 remittance; second prize $500.00; third prize $250.00, etc. (See third column in prize list.)

$2,000.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize, provided two yearly subscriptions to the daily and Sunday Constitution are sent, one of which must be new, at $9.50 each, total remittance $19.00; second prize $1,000.00; third prize $500.00, etc. (See last column in prize list.) Be sure to write your qualifying subscription on a separate sheet of paper from the "cow" picture, giving your name and address as well as the name and address of each subscriber. Remittance should be sent by money order, personal check or bank check. Currency should always be registered.

Observe These General Rules of the Contest:

- All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution and members of their families.
- Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the three amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered, a solution cannot be changed.
- The first prize will be awarded to the person having the greatest sum total, which is to be determined by the sum of the figures "9" written in the space designated inside of the border forming the picture representing the cow; to the second greatest total second prize, third greatest total third prize, etc.
- Any lead pencil may be used. All writing or drawing pens of artists or engineers or their like are barred, as ink cannot be used on this grade of paper without blurring. The figures "9" need not be perfect in shape, but must be complete. Write as small as you like with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make—just so each "9" is fully shaped. Figures cannot touch each other, nor are they permitted to touch any part of the borderline forming the shape of the cow.
- Copperplate type, shorthand, reproductions or reductions are barred, also duplicates of the original. Every "9" must actually be made by hand with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make, and must be discernible to the naked eye, meaning clear and distinct to a person of average good eyesight or equivalent. The natural eye by those who do not wear glasses, and ordinary reading glasses by those who wear glasses, only guide allowed in filling in the figure "9." A "9" with either straight or curved tail is permissible.
- Every contestant must give the correct total of the weight of the cow in the answer submitted by him. Incorrect statement disqualifies the solution. This weight of course is the sum total of the "9's" he has written in the figure representing the cow. This is important! Your name and complete address must be plainly written on margin of sheet on which your answer is given, or blank printed for that purpose, or a blank of your own selection attached hereto.

In case of ties, while there is hardly a chance in 10,000 of a tie, as many awards will be reserved as there are people tied. Before any award is awarded for best correct solution, another puzzle will be submitted to those tied on the same order of this one, except a smaller "cow" picture, after which should ties still result each contestant will receive the full amount of the prize tied for.

Only one prize will be awarded to a person, household, or group of persons. Any person or household or group of persons submitting duplicates are barred.

The decision of The Atlanta Constitution must be accepted as final and conclusive in all matters, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decision of the contest manager of The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right to reject at any time any contestant whom it believes has violated the rules. The solution of the winner of first prize will be reproduced in The Constitution, together with the published result which will be published as soon as possible after the closing date of the contest.

All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless as to whether or not a subscription for the daily and Sunday Constitution be sent in.

12. The contest is open to new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $5.00 for six months' subscription or $9.50 for 12 months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions or Tri Weekly subscriptions not acceptable in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent, postmaster, or otherwise no commission can be deducted. In column 2 of prize list, six months' subscription there referred to can be either new or renewal; column

3, 12 months' subscription $9.50, can be either new or renewal. Column 4, requiring two annual subscriptions, one can be a renewal, but one must be new. A new subscription means one who is not now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, directly or indirectly through any source, and has not within the past 60 days.

13. Subscriptions secured by the means of this contest in Atlanta and suburbs will be delivered by carrier service. In towns outside of Atlanta, where The Constitution has carrier delivery service, the carrier may be delivered by carrier, upon request of the subscriber or contestant; otherwise the paper will be sent by mail.

14. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month, or otherwise, may be delivered by The Constitution a six or twelve months' payment to qualify a solution. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer or agent at that time must be paid to him as the remittance sent us will date from the date it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payments. If all arrearages are not paid the solution may not be considered valid. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from present paid date of expiration. All qualifying subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance.

15. Contest closes Wednesday, February 8th, 1928. All solutions delivered in person must be at The Constitution office by 9:00 p. m. of that date, but may be mailed any time before midnight. Solutions mailed at any post office in Georgia and adjoining states bearing postmark of no later date than midnight February 8th, 1928, will be accepted if rules governing same are complied with. The contest extends from Wednesday, January 4th, 1928, to and including Wednesday, February 8th, 1928. Five days will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger prizes to do so, after which no further qualification remittances will be accepted.

The above rules are simple, easy to understand, and are all the information that can be given on the contest except that which appears in the announcement of which this is a part. (Copyrighted, 1928, by The Atlanta Constitution.)

Closing Date

THE "HOW MUCH CAN YOU MAKE THE COW WEIGH" GAME CLOSSES WEDNESDAY, FEB. 8TH, 1928.

NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS ONCE BEEN REGISTERED.

If you find that you can make the cow weigh more than the first solution which you sent, the only thing you can do is to send in another solution, which must be qualified independent of the first solution submitted. In other words, the qualification of one solution already submitted cannot be transferred to a later solution.

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER!

While the amount you pay with the solution does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

Address your solution, remittances, etc., to the Contest Manager, Daily Circulation Dept., The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

The Day in Finance

BY
R. L. BARNUM

New York, January 10.—Traders in the stock market and throughout the country, where the ticker service has been greatly extended, were completely bewildered by what happened stockmarketwise. Steel common opened this morning at 143 1/2 and was selling at 148 7/8 at noon when the steel corporation passed its director's statement of unfilled orders showing a gain over the previous month of 518,000 tons, twice as much as was expected in the most optimistic estimate and one of the largest monthly gains ever recorded.

From 148 7/8 steel common advanced rapidly, telephone reports from the stock exchange floor being widely circulated to the effect that 150 and better was being bid for the stock. Believing that higher prices were ahead as a result of the unexpected increase in December unfilled orders, traders rushed into the market with buying orders for steel common carrying the price up to 150 1/2 with the rest of the market following. This buying, however, was met by a flood of selling which carried the price of steel common from 150 1/2 to a few minutes after 12 to 146 5/8 before 12:30, with General Motors down from 134 to 130 1/8 and other leading stocks in proportion.

It was reported in this column yesterday that yesterday's offering by Secretary Mellon to exchange five-year 3 1/2 per cent bonds for 4 1/4 per cent Liberty bonds maturing on September 15 next was generally accepted as forecasting a continuation of easy money, but that some Wall street bankers looked upon the unexpected refunding announcement of government refunding as meaning that the deck was being cleared to pave the way for higher discount rates by some of the federal reserve banks. From long experience of which would be a readjustment downward in bond prices. This heavy selling of government bonds and the expectations of continued easy money mystified the street.

One of the largest banks in Wall street, one within the shadow of Trinity church, has broken had a policy of charging its customers, who are carefully selected, a slightly higher rate for call money than the open market rate and allowing such loans to stand undisturbed by minor fluctuations in the open market. This bank is one of the best managed and most successful in Wall street. From long experience well-informed Wall street people have learned that when this bank begins to call loans its officials expect a change in the money situation and that the bank which is also a heavy holder of government securities, began to call loans.

Expert Firemen NOT Needed!

When you have the right kind of coal, you don't need an expert stoker to get good heating results.

You can fire up the furnace, load the heater or fill the grate without bothering about the scientific manner in which an expert would do about the job. Or you can turn the task over to a servant with the satisfying knowledge that your house will be warm—and your coal won't be wasted.

That's one of the tests of good coal. If you have the right kind of coal for your purpose, your heating troubles are at an end.

Just let us know whether it's intended for use in grate, heater or furnace. The coal we send you will give you full value for your money in heating efficiency.

And you can forget about "scientific firing"...

RETAIL FOOD REELECT ELLIOTT

Arthur J. Elliott, prominent Atlanta grocer, member of the firm of Bucklew & Elliott and vice president of the Georgia Retail Food Dealers' association, Tuesday night was re-elected president of the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association to serve for 1928.

Other officers elected were R. L. Barge, first vice president; Eugene

ARTHUR J. ELLIOTT.

Diamond, second vice president; S. J. Mulligan, third vice president; Morris Weinberg, treasurer; Rev. F. L. Church, chaplain; and R. V. Bergen, secretary. John H. Merritt was named to serve on the executive board as past president.

Mr. Elliott's reelection, according to members of the association, came as the result of the remarkable progress of that organization, composed of food manufacturers, wholesalers and other distributors of food in Atlanta.

Mr. Elliott inaugurated a movement for the construction of a food dealers' building for Atlanta, slated to become a vital part in the life of the city and plans for which will be completed this year.

One of the most notable things about Mr. Elliott's regime the past year was the organization and the development of the Atlanta Food Promotion club, the newest form of organization among food distributors, similar clubs having since been formed in Macon, Nashville and other southern cities. He is also president of that organization, composed of food manufacturers, wholesalers and other distributors of food in Atlanta.

Mr. Elliott inaugurated a movement for the construction of a food dealers' building for Atlanta, slated to become a vital part in the life of the city and plans for which will be completed this year.
